3 Cabinet Ministers
Also Injured;
Youth is Arrested

JERUSALEM (AP)—A disgruntled youth exploded a hand grenade in the Israeli parliament today, wounding Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion and three other cabinet ministers on the first anniversary of Israel's invasion of Egypt.

The grenade thrower, a young man identified only as Dueg, was arrested immediately.

Police were not immediately able to determine his nationality or political affiliations—if any.

Ben-Gurion, Foreign Minister Golda Meir and Transport Minister Moshe Carmel were slightly hurt in the blast. But injuries to Minister of Religious Affairs Moshe Shapiro were described as more serious.

The bomb hurler was described by authorities as a man who held "personal complaints" against the government officials.

Ben-Gurion's right hand was slightly injured in the explosion. Mrs. Meir suffered a foot injury.

The explosive, believed to be a powerful grenade, was tossed at the government table from the gallery during a foreign affairs debate.

The Knesset was debating the foreign policy statements of Ben-Gurion and Mrs. Meir when, at almost exactly 6 p. m. (10 a. m. c.s.t.) Dueg arose in the public gallery and hurled his explosive to the parliament floor. It landed at the head of the cabinet table.

Shapiro, who was sitting nearest the blast, was most severely hurt and was immediately rushed to a hospital.

The shaggy-haired Ben-Gurion ducked as the missile came toward the cabinet table and suffered injuries only to his right hand.

The Knesset sat in stunned silence for a second. Then, while attendants ran toward the government table.

Blame Pranksters For Fatal Crash

STANFORD, Ill. (AP)—Authorities said today Halloween pranksters who removed a stop sign apparently were responsible for a two-car collision Monday evening in which a woman died and her husband and another man were injured.

Mrs. William Devine, 53, of rural Stanford, was killed in the accident, and her husband, William, 63, who was riding with her and Virgil Atkins of Minier, driver of the second car, were injured.

Missouri Physician Says He Quit Communist Party; Praised for His Testimony

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—A Missouri physician told a Senate subcommittee Monday he quit the Communist Party in 1955, "disillusioned" by Communist Party Boss Khrushchev's attack on the late Joseph Stalin.

Dr. Ralph Franklin, of Morehouse, Mo., was praised for his "frank testimony" by Sen. William E. Jenner (R-Ind.), of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee.

"Doctor, if more people would do like you have, this menace of Communism would not be a threat to this country today," Jenner said.

Franklin said he was "immature politically" when he joined the party early in 1954 while a student at the University of Tennessee medical units here. Franklin said he was invited into the party by a classmate, whom he identified as Dr. Vincent Myers of Ohio.

Donald West, Douglasville, Ga., farmer, took refuge behind the Fifth Amendment when asked if he was in charge of the Communist Party in Atlanta. He invoked the amendment more than 20 times, even refusing to confirm his wife's name was Jeanette.

Robert Morris, chief counsel for the subcommittee, called him "one of the more prominent Communist organizers in the South over a period of years."

The committee hearings were proceeding quietly when Frank Schroeder, chief investigator, asked Mrs. Grace Lorch of Little Rock, Ark., to meet with committee members in executive session.

"I'm not going in there alone," shouted Mrs. Lorch, who figured prominently in the integration troubles at Little Rock's Central

Unemployed AF Vet Steals Plane, Buzzes Building, Plunges in Ocean

HOQUIAM, Wash. (AP)—An unemployed Air Force veteran stole a light plane, buzzed buildings in downtown Seattle and then apparently plunged 11,000 feet to his death in the Pacific Ocean.

"Well, this is it. Am almost down to the water. So long," radioed a man who identified himself in a disjointed radio message as J. A. Greenawalt, 24, a Civil Aeronautics Administration trainee at Seattle who resigned in September.

Military radar stations near here fixed his position at 100 miles offshore at the time of the message Monday.

Greenawalt admitted in a message that he had stolen the Stinson plane from Boeing Field at Seattle.

Then began a series of wild buzzings that had scores of calls pouring into the CAA offices in Seattle.

Bob Taylor, operator of a cleaning shop in the Hungerford Hotel, obtained the number of the plane. "He buzzed the hotel and cleared a flag pole on the roof by about 20 feet. I thought he was going to hit it," said Taylor.

"Tell Marilyn I never did love her," one radio message said. "I've been depressed and I'm going into the water now."

The King County sheriff's office said Greenawalt referred to Marilyn Anderson, 21, Seattle. A deputy reported Greenawalt had some affection for Miss Anderson but that her parents claimed she spurned him. Greenawalt was divorced and his wife and two children are living in Alaska.

Film, 'Who Owns Your Property?' Is Presented at Rotary Meeting

"Who owns your property?" was the subject of a film presented before the Rotary club Monday at noon by Carl Becker, representative from the Mt. Vernon branch office of the Chicago Title and Trust company. Mr. Becker was introduced by Attorney Don Scott, program chairman.

It was pointed out in the film, that a deed does not prove that a person is actually the owner. The deed does not do away with claims or rights others may have in the property. From the deed, you cannot determine what rights, liens or claims may be outstanding against your title. Thus, when you buy real estate, the only way to make sure that it is really yours with a clear title and full rights of ownership is to make certain that all previous rights or claims of others have been cleared away. All risks can be covered by a title guarantee policy, Mr. Becker stated.

The honor students from the high school and the Junior high school were guests of the club. The high school students were: Carolyn Neff, senior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Neff, 214 South Webster; Patricia Moore, junior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Moore, RFD 1; Nancy Anderson, sophomore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Silas Anderson, 311 West South street, and Judith Gideumb, freshman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gideumb, Route 2, Carrier Mills. The Junior high school students were: Susan Alexander, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Alexander, 624 South Granger; Ruth Ann Bramlet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bramlet, 307 East Gaskins street; Margaret Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Evans, RFD 1, and Cathy Utter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Utter, 129 South Jackson St.

Doctor Blames Many Flu Deaths On Encephalitis

Disease Appears To Be Losing
Strength in Illinois

By United Press
Asian flu today appeared to be losing its strength in Illinois, but total deaths due to the flu, other types of influenza, and complications of both illnesses reached 21. A doctor, meanwhile, said that some of the recent deaths may be attributable to influenza viral encephalitis.

Dr. Norman J. Rose, of the Illinois Department of Public Health, said Monday "three or four" of Illinois' apparent flu fatalities may have been the result of encephalitis, an inflammation of the brain. Exhaustive laboratory tests are being made to test this hypothesis, he said.

Dr. Rose said encephalitis was not suspected in the deaths of 12 inmates of the Dixon School for the Mentally Retarded. The death of a middle-aged woman inmate Monday brought the number of deaths at Dixon to 12. Authorities also reported the death of a 49-year-old patient at the Kankakee State Hospital.

Asian flu has been verified at Chicago State Hospital, Dr. Otto L. Bettag, director of the state Department of Public Welfare said Monday. About 538 patients were reported ill in the past several weeks.

At least 25 high school football games were cancelled or postponed last weekend due to flu or fear of an outbreak. The cancellations extended into this weekend when Riverdale called off its game with Prophetstown, which automatically gave Prophetstown the Two Rivers Conference title.

The complaint names Everett Keasler and Reva Keasler, owners of the surface, and the Federal Land Bank of St. Louis as defendants.

Mount Carmel Schools Closed Because of Flu

MOUNT CARMEL, Ill.—Flu finally closed Mount Carmel School district schools Monday when 800 of a total enrollment of 2,534 were absent.

School Supt. Robert Orr said he was closing the schools because it was more economic and efficient to do so. He added that time, the rest of this week, at least, would have to be made up at a future date.

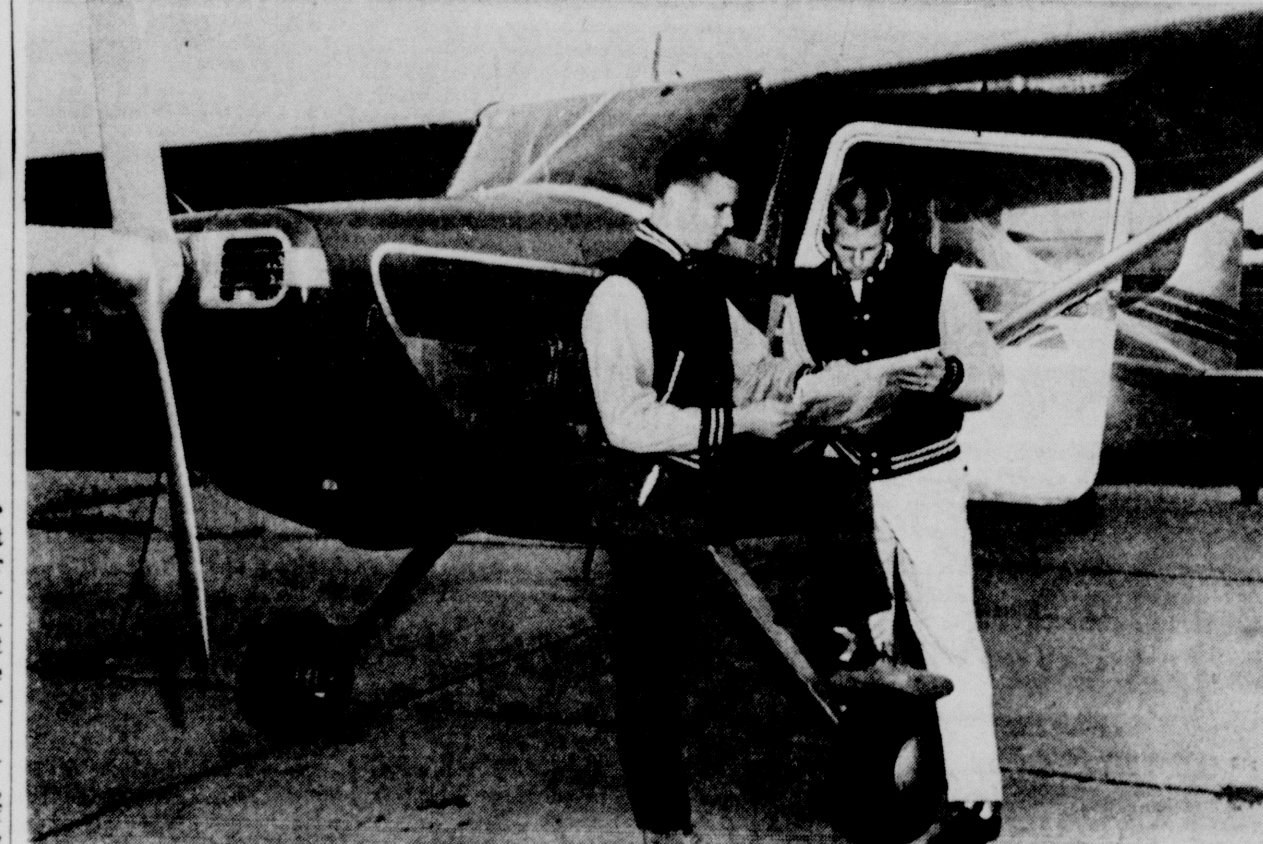

Hardest hit was Mount Carmel high school with more than half of its 600 enrollment on the sick list.

The annual Halloween festival, scheduled for Thursday night, has been cancelled as has the Mount Carmel-Oley football game set for Friday night.

10 Teenagers, Including Seven Girls, Jailed for Attack on Cop

CHICAGO (AP)—Ten teenagers, seven of them girls, spent the night in jail following an attack on a policeman who attempted to break up an alley fight between two girls.

Another youth, Stanley Winters, 15, was hospitalized with a cracked scalp. Twelve squads of police broke up the free-for-all Monday when more than 100 resentful teenagers mobbed off-duty policeman Emmett James, kicking and beating him as his wife tried to pull the screaming pack away.

James, 40, said he dashed from his house when he saw the mob of teenagers encouraging the fight and cheering them on. I tried to break it up and they set upon me.

"I drew my club to protect myself, and a boy snatched it from me," James said he then grabbed the club back and hit the boy, later identified as Winters.

Police said they interviewed the youth at Grant Hospital and that he admitted he had been drinking. He denied, however, that he had attacked James.

Cancer Society Hits Quackery as Cause of Deaths

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Cancer Society, reporting on the dangers of cancer quackery, said today that "some 75,000 people died of cancer last year who could have been saved if they had consulted in time and stayed with a competent physician."

The report, made public at the society's annual meeting, said patients are led to seek treatment from quacks by a variety of unfounded fears which must be attacked by increased educational campaigns.

It said the public must be told again and again that 50 per cent of all cancers are curable if treated promptly and competently.

"The cancer quacks are clever people, with millions of dollars at their disposal (taken from their unsuspecting victims) with which to perpetrate and perpetuate their frauds," the report said. Their claims of "cures" have been shown to be "either fraudulent or premature," the society said.

"The seriousness of the quack problem is indicated in a recent report of medical doctors at Duke University Medical School," the report said.

"Two years ago the doctors reported that upon completion of a study of 64 cases referred to their hospital after treatment by quacks, a total of 27 who were lost might have been saved if they had been treated earlier. Ten who were saved necessarily underwent much more severe and radical treatment than would have been needed if it had been started earlier."

Does Not Know if Zhukov Removal Is Good or Bad

Secretary Says
Internal Problem May Bring External Acts

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today that the current power struggle in the Kremlin requires the United States to be alert for a possible Russian adventure.

Dulles did not say whether this might take the form of a military or diplomatic action.

Dulles told a news conference he would not suggest that war is just around the corner. He said the administration does not believe now that a war is in prospect.

But Dulles said it must be remembered that whenever a great nation seems to be having internal problems that they sometimes lead to external actions to divert attention.

Must Be Alert

We have to be alert, he warned in appraising the ouster of Soviet Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov.

Dulles did not definitely say a Soviet military action, but presumably that was in his mind.

Dulles said the prolonged sessions of the Communist Party's Central Committee indicate there are very important issues being solved by Kremlin leaders.

He suggested that the problems are more domestic than international. But when asked point-blank whether he considers Zhukov's situation "good news or bad news," Dulles said he did not know. He said he could only tell after the final outcome is known.

Dulles gave the impression that the State Department itself does not have any inside information about Saturday's dramatic announcement that Zhukov had been "relieved" of his post as defense minister.

Assesses Soviet Problems
Dulles said he believes that even if Communist Party boss Nikita Khrushchev becomes a one-man dictator of Russia, he inevitably will be forced by the Russian people to relax his iron grip. Dulles called this the inexorable evolutionary process of history.

Dulles said the Soviet Union at the present time faces these sharp issues which must be dealt with:

A double-barrelled system in which the Soviet government and the Communist Party sometimes are pulling and hauling in different directions. This authority has been constantly shifting since Stalin's death.

—There is a parallel tugging and

SALES TAX KEEPS GOING UP—Only one state, Iowa, reduced its sales tax rate this year. It goes against the trend of increasing the bite on the consumer's pocketbook. A state-by-state survey (see Newschart) of sales tax percentages—representing one-fourth of total state tax collections—reveals that 32 states use the method to collect revenue. Arkansas, Maine and Rhode Island boosted their tax this year while the Massachusetts Legislature killed a proposal for a new 3 per cent sales tax. Iowa dropped back to 2 per cent after an extension of the temporary 2 1/2 per cent rate was vetoed. Washington, D. C., has a 2 per cent sales tax. Data from Commerce Clearing House.

THE CANVAS DAGGER

by HELEN REILLY

XX
Lisa Hall, Channing Hall's wife, was in her early thirties. She was beautiful, tall and lithe and dark. She said her husband had a cold.

McKee said they were investigating the death of a man named Grant Melville, a portrait painter who had been killed by a fall from his studio on Tenth Street a month or so earlier.

McKee had been right about the relationship. Tom Gillespie was Channing Hall's nephew. Mrs. Hall said her husband was very fond of him and she told him what he already knew, that Tom Gillespie was writing Grant Melville's biography—"He became interested in the man, I suppose"—and that Tom was up at a house Melville had owned on the Cape gathering material for the book. Tom a writer by profession? Oh no, not really, although he had been in publicity before he went into the Army, but he would try his hand at anything.

"You called Mr. Gillespie at his hotel today, Mrs. Hall?" She didn't express any surprise that McKee should know of her phone call, which would have been a natural procedure. She said that yes indeed she had called Tom, two or three times. Her husband wanted to see Tom about something and had asked her to get hold of him. But he was evidently still up on the Cape.

He said he was sorry to have troubled her, that they would talk to Mr. Gillespie when he returned to New York, and he hoped Mr. Hall would soon recover from his cold—troublesome things with a high nuisance value, weren't they?—and left the apartment.

Back at the office he pulled the phone towards him, called Fernandez, the chief medical examiner and his own close personal friend, and put his request. Half an hour later Fernandez called back. Smith Dawlish, Channing Hall's personal physician, was a friend of his and he'd done Dawlish a couple of favors, but even at that he'd had trouble getting it out of Dawlish.

Channing Hall was suffering from a good deal more than a cold. On the eve of a flight to Europe, where he was to have remained for several months trouble-shooting for a Senate committee, Hall had had a stroke while he was at his desk cleaning up paper work preparatory to departure. His wife had found him slumped down unconscious in his chair, his whole left side paralyzed. He had been a very sick man, he was slowly recovering. It was being kept extremely quiet, which was understandable with a man of his prominence.

Channing Hall's stroke had come at around noon on Oct. 3. The Scotsman didn't need to glance at the calendar. Grant Melville had been sent to his death late in the afternoon of the same day.

He hung up, threw himself back in his chair and stared at a stretch of blank wall, his inner gaze on a beautiful woman with a heart-shaped face, cloudy black hair and long liquid eyes. Lisa Hall was almost 20 years younger than her husband. He sat up. There might be nothing in it. He might be barking up the wrong tree. The barking mustn't be heard. The greatest care would have to be used. The servants would have been instructed, that went without saying, but there would probably be others. What he needed was a photograph of the late Grant Melville. He leaned forward and pressed his buzzer.

Meanwhile, for Sarah in Cornwall the fool's paradise in which she had been living had ceased to exist. She had been thrust into outer darkness and the gates slammed shut. After that disastrous interview with Carney following her identification of Dennert, as soon as they were alone she confidently expected Tom to speak, to explain why he had denied recognizing Dennert coming over on the plane from Boston last Saturday morning, and why he had denied knowing Dennert was in the stone house—because that was the reason why he had cut down through the grounds on that first afternoon. Tom did nothing of the kind.

When the escorting trooper left them at the Tasks' they didn't immediately go into the house. In the light from behind the drawn shades his face was somber, thoughtful.

He said slowly looking around through the dimness and keeping his voice low, "You had to tell Carney about Grant Melville, I suppose. . . Don't mention him to anyone else, let it stop there. You never saw Melville alive, have no interest in his death. It was—unfortunate that you had to identify Dennert."

He went on instructing her. Sarah listened in silence, terror flickering at the coldness that wrapped her in an icy cocoon. Dennert had been killed with a bludgeon of some sort, and Tom had been carrying a shotgun Saturday afternoon.

Tom broke off. "Sarah—what is it, what's the matter?" "The matter, Tom?" She gave a little laugh. "Nothing's the matter, dear. I feel like bursting into song. Why not? Such a charming day, such a delightful discovery about Mr. Dennert and the stone house. . . She took her hands out of his and walked quickly along the porch and into the house.

"Here you are—at last," Car-lotta exclaimed.

Burdette Feted In Home Town

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Milwaukee pitcher Lew Burdette, still exhilarated over his World Series performance, played hero all over again Monday night for "hometown" folks who saved their celebration for his return.

Burdette, who moved his family here in 1954, was honored with a homecoming parade through the city and a ceremony at Payne Park in which he was presented a 75 horsepower cabin cruiser, a gold key to the city and a bronze plaque. The homecoming ended with a banquet Monday night.

No Spare Time for Singer Pat Boone

By WILLIAM EWALD

United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (AP) — Pat Boone, a young man in a hurry, is haunted by time.

At the age of 23, Boone occupies a snug niche in what the untamed refer to as show biz. He is what the trade call "a gasser" in the record and personal appearance branches and seems to be conquering a third medium, TV. In his movie appearances, he has not exhibited any conspicuous talent for acting, but this, of course, has never been a deterrent to success in Hollywood. He should, in time, prove a gasser in pictures, too.

He is a young man spectacularly unburdened with vices. But he also is a young man squeezed by the clock. He divides his days between a demanding career, a beckoning home life and Columbia University's School of General Studies, where he is in his senior year.

Above all he seems to harbor a fierce drive to make good—even in his school life he is bucking for a Phi Beta Kappa key.

Not Much Idle Time

He does have a few outlets outside his daily regimen, but not much time for them. He owns some hi-fi equipment and a half-interest in an inboard cruiser with Frank Musillo, a member of the Arthur Godfrey production family. Boone also shares a financial, but not much of an emotional interest, in a race horse, "April's Love," with his manager Jack Spina and actor Arthur O'Connell. The horse's name is an inexact swipe from the title of Boone's second picture, "April Love."

But viewed from any angle, Boone is a slave to the clock. His day-to-day life is as carefully mapped as a military campaign. It is not surprising, therefore, that Boone's chief fault lies in the resistance, even resentment, he shows to the push of the clock.

"It's kind of fantastic, but we just can't seem to get him to change," says his wife, Shirley. "He just refuses to have any conception of time. Getting him to arrive for an appointment on time is a job in itself."

Spina concurs. He has a collection of stories about Boone's disregard for the clock.

"Once, he had an appointment for 8:30 in the morning and he didn't even get up until 11:30," moans Spina. "There was another time in Hollywood where he was eating a Thanksgiving leftover dinner."

"Well, I pleaded with him to quit—we had a recording session that day—but he began digging into the mincemeat pie. Well, that piece of pie cost up about $1,000—that's how much overtime the musicians got because Pat got to the session late."

Strangely enough, Boone's tussles with time extend in another direction—he collects watches. "He kind of likes the real thin kind right now," says Shirley Boone, "but it's hard to tell how many he has because he constantly gives them away."

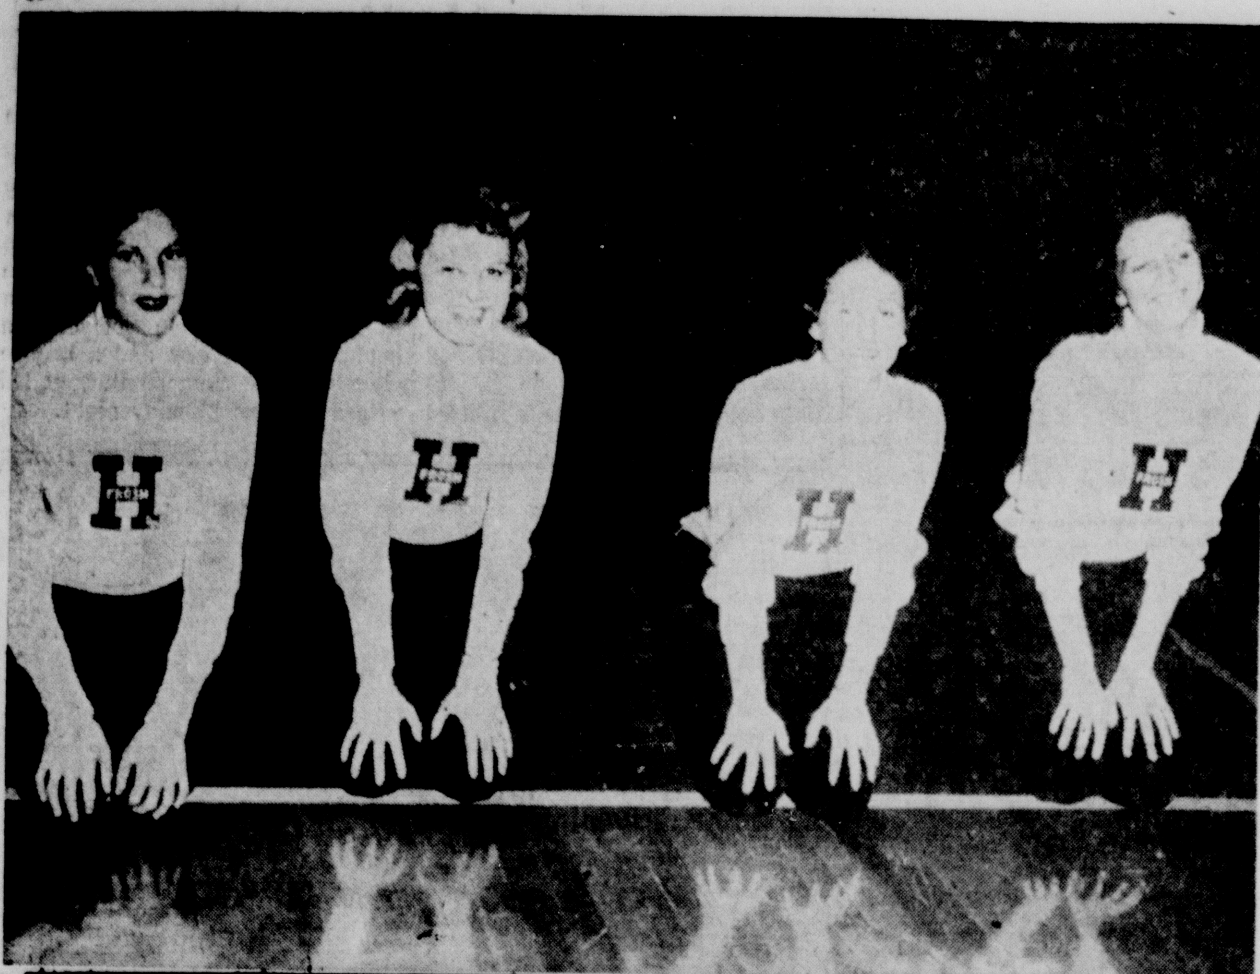

"It's one of his quirks—like toothbrushes. He's crazy about toothbrushes. He's always brushing his teeth. When we were going together, he even used to keep a toothbrush at my house."

"Listen, we have been careful with this boy, careful from the start," says Spina. "He may not please like Sinatra, but who does? He may not have that tone of voice, but again, who does? Pat has a good voice, a great personality and that extra something that makes a great star."

Humane Society Reports Rummage Sale a Success; Also Donates Clothing

The Harrisburg Humane Society today reported its Country Store rummage sale last week-end was very successful with sales bringing a sizeable sum to help run the animal shelter.

In addition the society was able to give more than 100 pounds of woolen clothing to the World Community Day's Parcels of Peace, a family burned out by fire was outfitted and several boxes of clothing will be turned over to Goodwill Industries, which employs handicapped persons.

Highest Paid Executive

Film Mogul Louis B. Mayer Dies

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Motion picture mogul Louis B. Mayer, immigrant son of an ironmonger who became America's highest paid executive, died early today from the lingering effects of severe anemia. Mayer, who was 72, had been suffering from the blood disorder since early this year and had undergone several transfusions recently. The reaction was complicated by a kidney infection.

Death came at 3:35 a. m. e.s.t. in the UCLA Medical Center.

A rotund little man, Mayer — known to his intimates as "L.B." — was a one-man Horatio Alger story, starting as a seagoing junkman at the age of 14 and rising to earn a salary of $1,296,503 in 1937, one of the largest individual paychecks ever reported by the U. S. Treasury Department.

At the height of his career as movie-maker and race horse owner, Mayer was acknowledged as the most powerful man in Hollywood. As boss of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, the world's largest film factory, his merest whim was law to thousands and the elite of movie-town respected his judgment.

He resigned from MGM in 1951 and in recent years had worked as an independent producer while he waged a behind-the-scenes battle to regain control of the vast studio property at nearby Culver City through the directorship of its parent company, Loews Inc. There had been some critics who complained he failed to keep pace with the entertainment times.

He was born Louis Burt Mayer in Minsk, Russia, July 4, 1885, the son of Jacob Mayer and Sarah Melzer Mayer. When he was two years old, his parents migrated to Canada's New Brunswick Province.

Berserk College Student Fires Home, Critically Wounds Wife, Father-in-Law

ROCKFORD, Ill. (UP)—A Beloit, Wis., college student who apparently went berserk Monday night, setting fire to his home and critically wounding his wife and elderly father-in-law, was captured in a police trap early today.

Ed Burn, 27, gave up without a struggle after police fired at him three times. A loaded 12-gauge shotgun was resting on the seat of his car next to him.

Following the shooting in Beloit, Rock County sheriff's police in Wisconsin radioed to Rockford authorities that Burn was en route to Rockford. His 1957 convertible was spotted by a squad car in Rockford early today.

Burn drove several blocks after a shotgun blast was fired into the trunk of his car. Farther up the road, policeman Eugene Wojciechowski stepped out of his squad car and commanded Burn to halt. Burn sped away and Wojciechowski fired twice, hitting his tires.

Burn meekly surrendered and was returned by authorities to the Rock County Jail in Janesville, Wis.

Meanwhile, John Jacobson, 70, was reported near death early today in Beloit Hospital. He had been shot twice with a 12-gauge shotgun, once in the stomach and once in the groin.

Mrs. Ed Burn, 19, wife of the alleged gunman, was in critical condition with a shotgun wound in the hip.

A preliminary investigation by authorities disclosed that Burn, a student who worked nights at a factory, had been discussing his marital problems earlier in the day with a minister. Burn had been married before and his former wife

Five members from each the House and Senate also will serve on the commission.

Shawnee Forest Black Walnuts Shipped To The White House

Recently the Shawnee National Forest received da request to ship some black walnuts to the White House from the "Land of Lincoln." David Frost, son of Ranger Lee Frost, gathered the walnuts on the Jonesboro Ranger Station administrative site which is one of the sites of the Lincoln-Douglas debates in 1858. A tag containing this information accompanied the walnuts to the White House. Plans are being made to re-enact the Lincoln-Douglas debate on the original site in 1958.

U. S. Must Be Alert For Russian Acts: Dulles hauling between the secret police and the army in the Soviet Union.

—The Soviets are faced with extremely serious domestic issues, including recent scrapping of the five-year plan, and the de-centralization of Soviet industry. These are very serious steps which raise great problems in the Kremlin.

—The Kremlin hierarchy faces important decisions on claims to the Soviet Union's resources. There are requirements to bolster Eastern European satellites, provide aid to Communist China, raise living standards at home, and to decide on constantly shifting military requirements.

While dictatorships usually seem to present a calm exterior, Dulles said, terrific convulsions go on underneath. But he would not say that a terrific convulsion is now under way in the Soviet Union.

Secretary Ducks Question

Dulles was asked whether the administration would "welcome the appointment" of Zhukov as ambassador to Washington. Dulles ducked the question, saying that all appointments of foreign ambassadors to the United States are agreed to in advance by the President.

On other international topics, Dulles:

—Said President Eisenhower would give sympathetic consideration to any invitation asking him to attend the mid-December meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Council in Paris.

—Said the impact of modern weapons and higher defense costs require a new "inter-dependence" between allies.

Said any "new look" at the nation's defense program is not expected to result in any reduction in defense spending.

—Said there is no certainty that Congress will approve required changes in the nation's atomic energy law in order to increase cooperation with U. S. allies in nuclear-scientific fields.

Prepare Public Opinion

Soviet Committee Reported Studying Future of Zhukov

BULLETIN

MOSCOW (UP)—Soviet Communist Party chieftain Nikita Khrushchev said tonight that Marshal Georgi Zhukov, deposed as defense minister, will soon get a new job corresponding to his "experience and qualifications."

MOSCOW (UP)—The Central Committee of the Soviet Communist Party was reported meeting again today to decide the future of Marshal Georgi Zhukov.

Zhukov was relieved Saturday on his post as minister of the armed forces, and the Soviet Army newspaper today revived the case of a "conceited, complacent" military man who had received "strict party punishment."

The Red Star also carried an editorial hammering away at the theme of party control of the army. This and similar editorials in service papers was interpreted as a preparation of public opinion for any major announcement.

The editorial said the Soviet people were convinced of the "far sightedness" of the Communist Party as the guardian of the people's interest.

Reports Not Confirmed

However, there was no confirmation of reports by the 133-man party Presidium or high command to which he was elected only last June.

Reports abroad that Soviet tanks were carrying out daylight practice for the massive Nov. 7 anniversary celebrations of the Bolshevik revolution were completely discounted here. No tanks were seen here Monday or today.

There was no specific mention of Zhukov today in the Moscow newspapers but Red Star, organ of the Soviet army, pointedly told the story of a Communist in the armed forces who "successfully mastered his duties," but neglected his shortcomings and let praise "turn his head."

The Communist, identified in the story only as Velikolug, made "serious blunders" and "received strict party punishment," the newspaper said.

Believe Marshal Disgraced

Presumably the members of the Soviet armed forces who read the paper could decide for themselves whether any of the criticisms apply to Zhukov who was once their chief.

The developments coincided with growing belief in diplomatic quarters Zhukov had been disgraced because he opposed Communist party control of the Red Army.

Pickets March Around City Hall At Metropolis

METROPOLIS, Ill. (UP)—Pickets continued to march around the Metropolis City Hall as a result of a dispute over the firing of 10 street and alley department workers more than a month ago.

The discharged workers who are manning the picket lines are members of Hod Carriers Local 1320.

Mayor J. L. Williams, whose firing of the workers was upheld by a 6-3 vote of the City Council, contended that the city has a right to fire any employees.

The Southern Illinois District Laborers Council at Carbondale said the city had violated a contract with the hod carriers.

Both Williams, who is business agent for a carpenters union at Metropolis, and Floyd Coughill, business agent for the hod carriers, refused comment on the dispute.

Informed sources say that in the past the hod carriers had written but not signed agreements with the city covering union wages.

Truman Likes Symington

OMAHA, Neb. (UP)—Former President Harry Truman, holding that any good Democrat is better than any Republican, said he would support Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) if he runs for president in 1960.

Truman, a guest of the Strategic Air Command, kept to domestic politics Monday and declined to answer questions dealing with foreign policy or Russian claims of superiority.

Truman said he has not yet received word from Democratic national headquarters on whether his campaigning services will be wanted in the 1958 congressional elections, but said he's available.

He foresaw a good year for the Democrats in the 1958 elections and said he did not believe a third party would hurt the Democrats, "or hurt anybody."

Price had the best yardage of any back and scored the only touchdown of the game. Simpson blocked a Carbondale punt and had the most tackles although he barely nosed out Ron Maynard, Junior tackle, and Jarrell Biggs, Junior guard, in the tackling department.

It takes a GIANT to stretch from coast to coast

Just as an enormous pipeline carries petroleum from producer to consumer, so does a giant medium carry goods from advertiser to consumer. That medium is the newspaper, a giant that lives in every town.

The newspaper pipeline is the shortest distance between advertiser and buyer. It carries sales messages to an average 100,000,000 people daily. The complete and constant coverage that newspapers guarantee every advertiser is one of the reasons why all advertisers spent $3,235,600,000 in newspaper advertising last year—more than they spent in TV, radio, magazines and outdoor combined!

If you want a steady flow of your product to your consumers, use steady advertising in the daily newspaper. It's the most efficient and direct pipeline.

All business is local... and so are all newspapers.

to the defending world champions. "Winning this pennant caused me more worries than any other," said Stengel the night the Yankees clinched the pennant. "And the reason is that Lopez kept them hustling every minute of the pennant race."

Hutchinson and Lopez Chosen Top Managers

NEW YORK (AP)—Fred Hutchinson and Al Lopez, nice guys who finished second, were chosen today as the United Press major league managers of the year for 1957.

The 38-year-old manager of the St. Louis Cardinals and the 49-year-old pilot of the Chicago White Sox were honored by two special committees of 24 baseball writers. In each case, the writers picked a manager who "did the most with his material" rather than a pennant-winner.

The National League committee selected Hutchinson over Fred Haney of the Milwaukee Braves, 16-7, with one vote for Bill Rigney of the New York Giants. The American League committee chose Lopez over Paul Richards of the Baltimore Orioles, 12-10, with two votes for Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees.

Hutchinson, in his second season with the Cardinals, led the Redbirds' surprising bid for the National League flag. Picked no better than fourth by most pre-season analysts and tabbed for the second-division by many, the Cardinals threatened the Braves all the way and were only 2-12 games behind the front-runners on Sept. 15.

Lopez, taking over the White Sox after six years with the Cleveland Indians, led the club to its best finish since 1920. Obviously out-manned by the Yankees, the White Sox nevertheless carried the fight

Bull Pups Roll to 54-0 Victory Over Carbondale Frosh-Soph Squad

The Harrisburg Bull Pups rolled up their biggest score in six or seven years last night when they traveled to Carbondale and trounced the Carbondale freshman-sophomore team, 54 to 0.

Larry Wise, halfback, was the big scorer with 20 points on three touchdowns and an extra point.

The first quarter was scoreless but here is how the scoring went, starting with the first play of the second period:

II. Larry Wise on six-yard run with Larry Ledford running for the extra point. Ledford scoring on a 49-yard run with Wise running for the extra point. Roger Aldridge plunging over from the 4 and also plunging for the extra point. Wise running 36 yards to score and the extra point failing. Score 27-0.

III. Alfred Johnson scored on 11-yard pass play with Ledford running for the extra point. Wise running 53 yards to score and the extra point being made on a pass to Johnson. Score 41-0.

IV. John Utter scoring on a 30-yard run on a Statue of Liberty play and the extra point failing. Fred Winders scoring on a 20-yard run and Larry Baldwin going over for the extra point. Final score 54-0.

Coach Jim Beers started Johnson and John Donovan at ends, Jerry Kane and John Pickford at tackles, Steve Frantz and James

Galatia Third in District Meet

Galatia high school's cross country team finished third in the district meet held Saturday at West Frankfort and qualified three runners for the state meet to be held Saturday.

Centralia took district honors. West Frankfort was second and Galatia came in third in the big field of entries.

Galatia runners, Raymond Griffin, Kenneth Cockrum and Don Wickham, finished third, fourth and fifth and will take part in the state meet to be held Saturday at the Urbana Country club.

Galatia has made a fine record in district cross country in the past three years. In 1955 the Galatia team finished second, in 1956 the team won the championship trophy and finished third in 1957.

The Wailing Wall

Iowa, Northwestern Game Should Have Been Even, Both Coaches Say

By ED SAINSBURY
United Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—Minnesota won half of its game against Michigan, Murray Warmath told the coach's wailing wall today, but "we couldn't score as many points."

"They beat us the first half," he said. "We beat them the second. They just had the speed so we couldn't cover them on their passes. They hit one for 35 yards, then Jim Pace, out in the flat, caught one and ran 12 or 15 yards for a touchdown, and he faked a pass and ran for another."

Bennie Oosterbaan said his Wolverines earned "a very satisfying victory. Michigan played its best game of the season and Jim Van Pelt and Jim Pace played their best games. Pace ran smartly and hard. We were able to stop Bobby Cox and our line did a fine job."

Iowa beat Northwestern, but both coaches believed "it should have been 0-0." "Whoever got the break 'was going to win," Iowa's Forest Evashevski said, "and we had a good break. I have no way of knowing whether they were good and we were bad. The weather didn't do either team any good."

Fumbles Hurt Wisconsin

"If it isn't a fumble, it's a fluke that beats us," Ara Parseghian of Northwestern said. "The worst we should have come out with was a tie. On the play before their touchdown, we had their pass intercepted and it dropped through. Then Wilmer Fowler had the ball and could have gone all the way for us, but he dropped it and the other boy got it and went for a touchdown."

Two fumbles cost Wisconsin a victory over Ohio State, Badger Coach Milt Bruhn said. "We were down on their four and fumbled and gave them the ball with a couple of minutes to play," he said, "and they ground out a couple of plays to run out the clock. Then we fumbled earlier and gave them their second touchdown pretty easy."

Woody Hayes of the Buckeyes, though pleased by the win, said "we weren't a go! football team. They can say what they want about that final fumble, but I can say what about ours on their six earlier. I think we out-fumbled them."

Michigan State played a "flat first half" in beating Illinois, Duffy Daugherty said, "but we were good in the third period. And we looked good when Jim Ninowski took us on that fourth period touchdown drive."

Played in Flashes: Eliot

Ray Eliot of the Illini said his club "played well in flashes. In the first part of the game, we had second and two on their four. We threw a dinky little pass and it was knocked down. Then our tackle was offside and we were back on the seven. Then we fumbled and gave them the ball. If we'd got that touchdown, who knows what would have happened."

Bob Hicks of Indiana made his first appearance as a winner and said the victory over Villanova "helps an awful lot. We ended up with Villanova sitting on our one, and the boys didn't know for a few minutes whether they won or not. But after four tough losses, a taste of victory is mighty good."

Notre Dame stopped itself "too many times by penalties and fumbles," Terry Brennan said, "but when the going was tough, we dug in and stopped them. Pitt was a real fine club."

Purdue had a "breather" against Miami, Jack Mollenkopf said, "but our kids did a good job. They were a good little team, but not used to this competition."

Predict 28 Hunters Will Be Killed, 112 Injured in Accidents

WASHINGTON (AP)—The American Automobile Assn. predicted today that 28 hunters will be killed and 112 injured in gun accidents in cars unless they are more careful with firearms.

Harry L. Kirk, AAA president, said most car gun accidents during the hunting season occur while guns are being put in or taken from automobiles, with the rest while the car is in motion.

JOHNSTON CITY, Ill. (AP)—The death of a miner who was crushed beneath a ton-and-a-half fall of rock while at work Tuesday has been termed an accident by a coroner's jury.

Fire Damage In Carbondale

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP)—Fire of undetermined origin destroyed a paint and furniture warehouse and damaged other buildings in downtown Carbondale Tuesday.

Firemen from seven towns joined in bringing the blaze under control 45 minutes after it started.

The fire, fanned by strong southerly winds, destroyed the A. and L. Warehouse and damaged the adjoining East Side Garage. A home a block away was extensively damaged by wind-blown sparks and a bakery shop and several homes in the area had to be evacuated because of dense black smoke.

Telephone and electric service in the east part of the city was affected and traffic was tied up temporarily on Ill. 13.

The Carbondale Fire Department was in another part of town when the blaze broke out and the Murphysboro firemen were first on the scene. Fire trucks from West Frankfort, Herrin, Marion, Du Quoin and Carverville also raced to the scene.

Authorities said the blaze started in the warehouse.

Lots of nice prizes have been donated by Harrisburg merchants for the annual uptown Halloween celebration Thursday night sponsored by George Hart post of The American Legion.

The Legion post has sponsored the celebration for years, with the thought in mind that young people are much better off uptown competing for prizes on Halloween night than running about the streets of Harrisburg.

The square will be roped off at 6 p. m. for the event and the awarding of prizes will take place at 8 p. m.

The following prize donations have been made:

Bob Burnett, one tie; Doty Shop, $1 gift; Skaggs Pharmacy, $2 box candy; Winkelman's Jewelry, pair of earrings; South Side barber shop, one hair cut;

Myrons, three $1 gifts; W. A. Grant Jewelry, sterling silver ring;

President Will Confer With GOP, Demo Leaders Before NATO Conference

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower announced today he plans to go to Paris in December to join other heads of government at the annual meeting of the NATO Council.

The President said that before going to Paris he will confer with Republican and Democratic congressional leaders. "The congressional conferences, he said, would be designed to keep this country on a single track in its foreign relations."

While in Europe, the President said he also would like to visit London, but he did not know whether the London visit could be arranged because of the difficulties involved in his remaining out of the country for any length of time.

The President announced his Paris trip at a crowded news conference, his first in three weeks.

Other news conference highlights:

—He said the Little Rock school integration crisis seems to be improving daily and he hopes the situation soon will be such as to permit removal of all federal forces.

—He advised American housewives to buy less in an era of rising prices and buy more during downward price trends.

—He did not know whether Georgi K. Zhukov, ousted as Soviet defense minister, had been downgraded, but the President thought the frequency in changes among the Soviet ruling group since the death of Stalin was extraordinary.

—The President expects to make an announcement soon on the first in a series of speeches designed to build up public confidence in American scientific and defense programs, foreign policy and the national economy.

May Forego Holiday

—Because of an unusually busy November ahead of him, he thought he might have to cancel plans for his customary autumn golfing holiday at Augusta, Ga.

—He said there had been no hitch in the appointment of the Civil Rights Commission provided by the last Congress, but that he was moving slowly in an effort to get the best possible men of na-

Coroner Vernon V. Qualen said Barr apparently battled the bull with a hammer and pocket knife during a life and death struggle. The hammer and knife were found about 40 feet from where Barr had been unloading the corn, Qualen said.

Saline, Gallatin Group Organized At Shawneetown

Poston Addresses Meeting, Says Task Will Be Hard

The new Saline Valley Development association launched what could be the most significant economic effort in the history of Saline and Gallatin counties when it organized Tuesday night at the court house in Shawneetown.

Officers were elected by the assembly, which accepted the slate recommended by the steering committee.

Named president was Ewell Winkelman of Harrisburg. Ed Hon of Ridgway was elected first vice president, Curtis Bradley of Ridgway second vice president, John D. Upchurch of Eldorado was elected secretary-treasurer and Mrs. Ina Cain of Harrisburg was elected recording secretary.

List Objectives

Approved were the by-laws as prepared by the steering committee, which has worked since summer in getting a plan of operation set up.

By-laws declare the purpose of the association is to foster and promote in Saline and Gallatin counties and vicinity the following objectives:

To advance the general welfare, to work toward the social, civic and economic development of the area; to educate the citizenry for a well-adjusted, healthy community life capable of providing an environment essential to good living, and to plan and implement all possible action that may be deemed proper, legal and necessary to carry out and accomplish these objectives.

The steering committee was composed of Raymond Field of Carrier Mills, who presided at last night's meeting, Mark Watson of Eldorado, F. D. Pankey of Carrier Mills, John Wilson of Shawneetown, C. L. Clayton of Old Shawneetown, Eugene Duffy of Ridgway and Mr. Winkelman.

Three Principal Units

It was brought out by speakers that the SVDA will consist of three principal units: The executive committee, composed of three members of the Gallatin County Board of Supervisors, three from the Saline County Board of Supervisors, one delegate from each of the 14 communities in the two counties; and ex officio members as follows: the chairmen of the two political parties in both townships and members of the Community Development department of Southern Illinois University; the Board of Governors consisting of representatives from organizations and agencies; and the General Assembly.

Three members of the SIU department were present last night and gave inspiration and assistance to the SVDA members. They were Richard Poston, department director well-known in this area, Robert Knittel, assistant director, and Fred List.

Mr. Poston, who urged that the SVDA be well represented Nov. 21 at 10 a. m. at the Saline county court house when U. S. Senator Paul Douglas will be present to discuss area problems with people of Saline, Gallatin, Pope and Hardin counties, made the following statements in his address to the gathering:

"It's a crime that an area like Gallatin and Saline counties, with its natural resources and a great river bordering it, which has so much to give and so much to build upon, has done so little.

"God has done so much and man so little. You people have the possibility of building a great industrial area, and yet when you look at the relief loads and social problems, and our high school graduates leaving never to come back."

Threatens Contempt

Sen. Jenner Denounces Little Rock Housewife as Red Organizer

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP)—The Senate Internal Security subcommittee hearings ended in an uproar here Tuesday with Sen. William Jenner (R-Ind.) denouncing Mrs. Grace Lorch as a "Communist organizer" and threatening to cite her for contempt of Congress.

An overflow crowd broke into loud applause and rebel yells as Jenner pounded a clenched fist on the table and told the Little Rock, Ark., housewife and integrationist leader that she should be "cited for contempt."

The contempt threat came after Mrs. Lorch ignored the committee's questions Tuesday and tried to read a prepared statement attacking the subcommittee and its chairman, Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss.).

Shortly afterwards, Eastland and Jenner made the surprise announcement that the hearings here had ended. They were to run through today.

Jenner said it was decided to cut the hearings short because of "uncooperative witnesses" who invoked the Fifth Amendment and the fact that many witnesses were excused from appearing here.

Mrs. Lorch, who once tried unsuccessfully to enroll her daughter, Alice, 13, in a Negro school at Nashville, Tenn., clutched a prepared statement when she took the stand Tuesday. The day before she had refused to appear before the subcommittee in a closed hearing.

She received wide publicity when she shielded a Negro student from a jeering white mob after the Negro girl had been turned away from Little Rock's Central High School by National guardsmen.

Jenner called Mrs. Lorch a "trouble maker" and told her "we are not interested in the Little Rock integration situation or what you did over there."

Jenner then read into the record evidence the committee staff had gathered to show Mrs. Lorch was identified in Boston seven years ago as a Communist Party organizer.

Jenner said he would take up his proposal for a contempt citation with the full committee, then with the U. S. Senate.

Without a Party

Cook County Assessor Keenan Dumped from Republican Slate

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—Cook County Assessor Frank Keenan, a political maverick who bolted from the Democratic to the Republican Party earlier this year, today appeared to have no party at all.

Keenan was dumped from the 1958 GOP slate Tuesday following a meeting between Gov. Stratton and Cook County State's Atty. Benjamin S. Adamowski.

Keenan is scheduled to go on trial for income tax evasion at Danville Nov. 5. Meanwhile, his office is being investigated in connection with alleged irregularities involving payoffs made for down graded tax assessments.

In a statement following their meeting Stratton and Adamowski said:

"We have met and concluded that Frank Keenan should not be a candidate on the Republican ticket. Since there are questions of such a serious nature involving his office which will require months of intensive investigation, we do not believe he should be considered."

Keenan received the news at Hot Springs, Ark., where he is vacationing, and issued a statement saying "there is nothing in my record which could make me other than a good candidate for public office. My record as assessor speaks for itself."

"The matter of investigation of my office concerns the state's attorney. He has received and will continue to receive the fullest cooperation from me."

The public disavowment of Keenan came about a month after Adamowski, himself a former Democrat, plumped for Keenan to seek re-election at a "Gold Day" in Keenan's honor.

Stratton indicated Tuesday he would meet with Adamowski, Cook County GOP chairman Edward Moore, who also urged Keenan to run, and other Republican leaders for "further discussion" of the 1958 GOP ticket.

Among those thought to be possible substitute candidates was Robert E. Merriam, another renegade Democrat, who was defeated in the 1955 mayoralty race by Richard A. Daley of Chicago. Keenan, long at odds with the regular Democratic organization in Chicago, had supported Merriam.

Brownell—Candidate?

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT Retiring Attorney General Herbert Brownell says he is going back to private law practice. But he is a natural for the New York political scene in 1958, and undoubtedly great pressure may be put upon him.

It could be that privately he already has agreed to run for governor on the GOP ticket against Gov. Averell Harriman. We are not likely, however, to break through the wall of public denials being erected at this stage.

Though California is breathing down its neck, New York is still the most important political state in the union. This is true both in deciding a presidential election and in choosing party nominees in convention.

To point out that contests sometimes are won without New York does not destroy the argument. No candidate likes to give away a state with 45 electoral votes and 90-odd convention delegate votes.

President Eisenhower captured New York in 1952 by nearly 840,000 votes and his 1956 margin was just under 1,600,000. The latter total was achieved even though the state government was then under Democratic control. Yet the wise political heads look for no repetition of these performances in 1960, when Mr. Eisenhower's name will not grace the ticket.

Politicians must assume New York then will be a battleground. If it is, control of the state government will be important. Both parties know it, and the 1958 governorship affair is bound to be classed as a critical preliminary in the presidential struggle.

Furthermore, if an Eisenhower man like Brownell should run and win, the Eisenhower Republicans would be vastly strengthened for the convention contest over 1960 nominee. Nobody who can throw 90-some delegates into the balance will be found in a dark corner.

Brownell is a veteran at engineering nominations, having been deeply involved with two for Thomas E. Dewey and one for Mr. Eisenhower. If any aspect of the governorship should appeal to him most, it probably would be the prospect that success would throw him into the thick of another nomination battle.

At this moment, speculation largely governs the situation. But there is no guesswork in the fact that Brownell's resignation gives New York Republicans the biggest piece of 1958 political timber they've seen to date.

'Ungoverned' French

There never has been any great surprise at the sudden falling of a French government. After all, since World War II some 23 have come into being and now the search is on for a leader of the 24th.

But of recent years the time between new governments seem to be getting longer and longer. Accustomed to seeing these coalitions fly apart at the slightest pretext, we now observe that the fragile mosaic of a French cabinet is harder and harder to piece together.

If the interim periods between governments continue to stretch out, the French may arrive at that time when they live more days of the year without a government than they do with one.

In the light of traditional French citizen resistance against any kind of really positive government action, these long doldrums may be just about what the French deserve.

But it's hard on France's friends, who want to see this country hold its fair place as a useful and resourceful member of the family of free nations.

"Tighten My Belt?—What Belt?"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Drew Pearson says: Russian policy tougher at UN than ever before; Moscow's aim is to squeeze out Turkey; Russia would fight if Syria regime were ousted.

THE UNITED NATIONS, New York—Whatever the connotations of Zhukov-Khrushchev maneuverings inside the Kremlin, there is no dispute regarding the growths of Andre Gromyko at the United Nations. They have grown grimmer and more menacing.

Diplomats who have been attending the UN since its inception say that never before have the Russians been so tough, so uncompromising, or played their cards with such precise, diplomatic skill.

They also say that the three-hour private conference Foreign Minister Gromyko had at the home of John Foster Dulles, calculated to be a showdown between the USA and USSR, has only made Gromyko more bellicose.

Gromyko is playing his hand from strength. His trump cards are the ICBM, Sputnik, the new Soviet jet transport plane, and he is waving these cards with brazen audacity. With their help, here are some of the plays he has pulled:

Play No. 1—On Sunday, October 20, Gromyko invited Syria, Egypt, plus the satellite countries, plus such neutrals as Indonesia, India, and Yugoslavia, to his home to head off mediation of the Turkish-Syrian dispute by King Saud. He wanted the dispute handled not in the distant desert kingdom of Saudi Arabia, which lacks newsreels and television, but under the klieg lights of the United Nations, where the entire world could watch the fireworks. He was not interested in mediation but in psychological warfare.

During the course of this secret meeting, Gromyko used the words "we will use force if necessary." He did not elaborate further.

Play No. 2—In other backstage UN talks, Gromyko, always a grim man, has been grimmer than ever.

He has even let it be known that Russia would use armed force to keep the present pro-Russian government of Syria in power. In other words, should there be a revolt inside Syria, the Red Army would invade to protect its puppet government just as it invaded Hungary.

Play No. 3—Russian delegates are whispering that they obtained the diplomatic pouch containing the reports by Loy Henderson on his near eastern trip to bolster the Eisenhower doctrine. These, they claim, reveal war plans between Turkey and the United States. Photostats have even been circulated among the Syrians and Egyptians, giving alleged U. S. plans for a Turkish attack.

Unquestionably, these documents do exist, though U. S. intelligence agents are convinced they are forgeries either sold to the Russians by Arab agents or manufactured in Moscow. This writer, who recently visited the Near East, came back with the conviction that the United States at no time encouraged Turkey to be an aggressor. Just the contrary.

Conclusions.—These plays add up to one thing: Russia is whipping up a psychological fear in the Near East to cover an early move. The move will be either to strengthen her hold on Syria or put the final squeeze on Turkey, or penetrate through Jordan to the Red Sea, using Syrian agents. Eventually Russia will do all three.

COCKED REVOLVER American diplomacy has to recognize the fact that for ten years Russia has bitterly resented American bases in Turkey. Now, with the power of the ICBM and the prestige of Sputnik supporting her, she is determined to get rid of these bases—either by lead-frogging over Turkey or taking Turkey. Since we are pledged to go to war—all-out war—to defend Turkey, this could mean world war.

Most likely development is that Syrian exiles in Turkey may move into Syria to set up a new government. This would give Russia the excuse to come in. Judging from the present temper at the UN, it won't take much of an excuse.

What the United States really has to decide is whether it wants to go to war over Turkey. American bases are like a cocked revolver aimed at Russia's head. They are like Russian bases would be if located across our border in Mexico. We would circumvent them by putting troops in Guatemala and Panama, just as Russia is building a base in Syria.

A few months ago she wouldn't have dared to do this. But with the prestige of Sputnik and the ICBM she not only dares do it but is doing it. That's why Andre Gromyko at the United Nations is talking so tough. And that's the great decision we may have to make—whether to face a military showdown over the Austria and Czechoslovakia of the Near East.

Note—Since we have the intermediate range missile and not the inter-continental missile, Turkish bases are all the more important than before. From them we could hit Moscow with an IRBM. This fact also makes it more important to Moscow to get rid of those bases.

DIPLOMATIC POUCH

Prime Minister MacMillan of England found John Foster Dulles weary and somewhat discouraged. Other diplomats who have conferred with Dulles recently say that he has lost his old bounce, doesn't have his former hopeful attitude about the world.

Dulles is bitterly disappointed that he didn't win the Nobel Peace Prize instead of Lester Pearson, ex-foreign minister of Canada. Pearson won it for getting British, French and Israeli troops out of Suez. Dulles believes he had as much or more to do with this than Pearson.

It will surprise no one if Dulles bows out of the cabinet around the first of the year. Republican pressure on the White House to relieve him is increasing. Prime Minister MacMillan urged Ike not to cut off aid to Yugoslavia, said it would play into the Kremlin's hands. Tito has been urging the State Department to let him fly to Washington for a conference with Ike, before he slashes aid to Yugoslavia. Tito has even set Nov. 4 as a date for the meeting. White House isn't likely to act—too much opposition from some Congressmen and Catholic groups.

Matter of FACT

Perhaps the most well known signature in American history is that of the patriot, John Hancock, on the Declaration of Independence. When his turn came to sign the document, Hancock, who represented Massachusetts, affixed his signature in the bold hand so well known now and said: "I write so that George III may read without his spectacles."

Marlon Brando gives the okay sign in this scene from "Guys And Dolls," in CinemaScope and Color, to show at the Grand tonight and Thursday.

Whistle at Marion

MARION, Ill. — The sounding of the "kid whistle" will not be resumed in Marion.

That was the name applied by adults to the fire siren which signaled the curfew hour for youngsters many years ago.

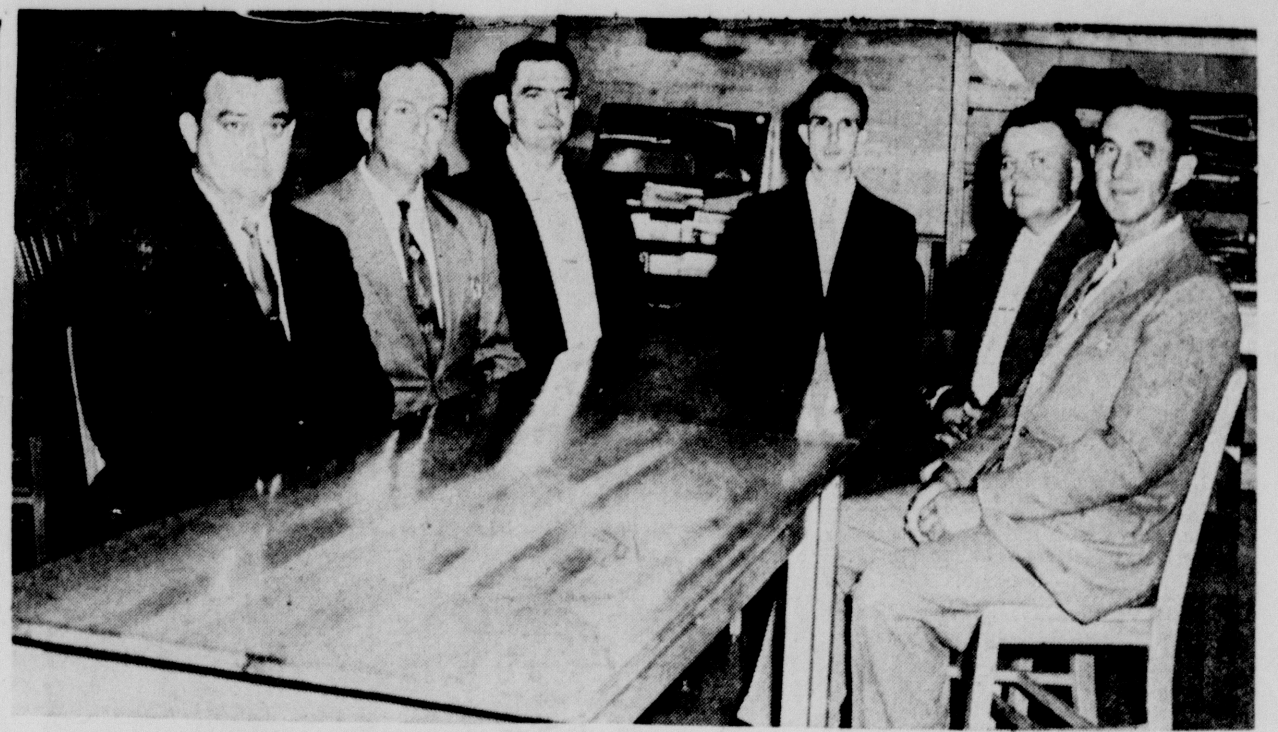

Police Chief Charles Edwards asked the city council Monday night to impose an 11 p. m. curfew on youngsters 18 and under to curb juvenile delinquency and burglaries.

His request received a cool reception from council members, who said parents were generally against a curfew.

Stratton Orders Study of Use Tax Problems

SPRINGFIELD — Gov. Stratton today ordered further conferences and a general Revenue Department study of the problems of automobile and implement dealers who complain they are subject to "double taxation" under the state use tax.

Stratton met with a group of Champaign area automobile and farm implement dealers who were accompanied by State Rep. Ora D. Dillavou (R-Champaign).

Dillavou said dealers in his area were extremely concerned about the use tax problem.

The governor asked Revenue Director Richard Lyons to confer with dealer representatives and see if some administrative changes could be made to lessen the expense to the dealers of record keeping and tax collection.

He also asked that the dealers' representatives meet with the Revenue Department in an effort to come up with new legislation to solve the use tax complaints at the 1959 General Assembly.

The dealers have complained that they must collect the use tax for the full amount allowed on a traded-in automobile or other commodity involved in a sale.

For example, a dealer who sells a new car for $3,000 and allows the buyer a $1,000 trade-in allowance on his old car must collect the use tax on the full $3,000.

Then when he sells the traded-in old car, he must collect the use tax on whatever amount he sells the car for. The dealers contend this is double taxation.

Under the sales tax, before the enactment of the use tax, the tax was collected only on the price of the new car, minus the trade-in value of the car taken in trade.

Stratton vetoed two bills in the 1957 Legislature designed to exempt the trade-in value from the use tax on the grounds they were of doubtful constitutionality and he did not want to risk having the Supreme Court throw out the whole use tax act.

Miss Betty Jean Price,
Frank Herbert Cummins
Married in Southport, Ind.

Miss Betty Jean Price, daughter of Cecil Price and the late Dorothy Price, Southport, Ind., and Frank Herbert Cummins, son of Mrs. Laura Cummins, 201 North Granger street, Harrisburg, and the late Frank O. Cummins were married in an early evening candle light ceremony in the First Presbyterian church in Southport, Ind., Oct. 19. The Rev. William Pritchard Jr., performed the double-ring ceremony before assembled relatives and friends.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

She wore a wedding gown of Chantilly lace and tulle over white satin, fashioned with a high bateau neckline on the fitted bodice and a bouffant floorlength skirt. Her fingertip veil of illusion was secured with a crown of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white orchid and stephanotis.

Mrs. Marvin Van Winkle, Indianapolis, Ind., served as her matron of honor and wore a waltz length tulle dress, jade green in color. Her bouquet was a cascade of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Robert Mybeck, Crown Point, Ind., and Mrs. Walter McClurg, Arlington, Ind., were bridesmaids, and wore dresses identical to that of the matron of honor. Their bouquets were replicas also.

John VanderPluym, Decatur, acted as best man for the bridegroom and John Cape, brother-in-law of the bridegroom and Robert Endicott, Harrisburg, were groomsmen. Ushers were Gene Johns, Terre Haute, Ind., William Kersey, Lexington, Ky., and Thomas Stevens, Peru, Ind.

The grandmother of the bride, Mrs. John H. Price, wore a navy blue nylon dress and a corsage of pink roses and carnations.

Mrs. Cummins chose for her son's wedding a navy blue sheath dress and she wore a corsage of pink roses and carnations.

Richard Lovin, Rolling Prairie, Ind., sang traditional wedding songs preceding the ceremony and "The Lord's Prayer" as benediction.

Immediately following the wedding ceremony, there was a reception in the church. Hostesses for the reception were Mrs. Kenneth Irvin, Mrs. Bill Price, Mrs. Richard Lovin, Mrs. Alvin Carey and Mrs. John Cape, sister of the bridegroom.

Following a honeymoon trip to Cincinnati, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Cummins are now at home to their friends at 4420 Bertrand Road, Indianapolis, Ind.

The bride attended Indiana Central college and is now employed in the Indiana National bank. Mr. Cummins was graduated from SIU at Carbondale, with a degree in Education, 1952. He was a graduate of the U. S. Navy officer candidate school of Newport, R. I., 1953, and served 3 years and 8 months in the U. S. Navy. Last June he was graduated from Butler University school of business and is now employed by the Indiana National bank.

Out of town guests at the wedding were: Mrs. Cummins, mother of the bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. John Dool, Elmhurst, uncle and aunt of the bride; Mrs. John R. Brown, Benton, great-aunt of the bridegroom; Mrs. Paul O'Neal, Ozark, aunt of the bridegroom; Mrs. O'Neal's daughter, Mrs. John Slightom, Harrisburg; Mr. and Mrs. John VanderPluym, Decatur; Mrs. Thomas Stevens, Peru, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lovin, Rolling Prairie, Ind.; Mrs. Robert Mybeck, Crown Point, Ind.; Mrs. John Cape and Miss Connie Cape, Harrisburg. Former Harrisburg residents now living in Indiana who attended were: Mr. and Mrs. John Crompton, Mrs. Crompton is the former Miss Frederica Wilson; Mrs. Irene Dorris and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gessner, Mrs. Gessner is the former Miss Arlene Smith.

The wedding party and the bride's brothers, Bill, John and Gerald Price, were entertained with a buffet rehearsal supper following the rehearsal on the evening preceding the wedding.

Lenore Circle Meets
With Mrs. Clyde Pittman

The Lenore circle of the First Presbyterian church met in the home of Mrs. Clyde Pittman, Monday evening. The program was presented by Mrs. Charles Boicourt and Mr. S. M. Farrar. Boicourt's topic was "By What Means?" and Mrs. Farrar's, "Warren Wilson Junior College Missions." The year book of prayer was given by Mrs. Herman Seifried.

Cards for the collection of the "Fellowship of the Least Coin" were distributed to be filled for the use of missions. There were 14 members present and the hostess served cake and cranberry tea.

Euzelian Class Holds
Potluck Meeting Monday

The Euzelian Sunday school class of the First Baptist church held a potluck dinner in the education building, Monday evening. Mrs. John C. Hayes, Mrs. Bill Franks and Mrs. Joe Morman, hostesses, had the tables decorated in Halloween themes.

The following officers were installed by Mrs. Paul Hayes: Mrs. Charles T. Sutton, teacher; Mrs. Bernard Feazel, president; Mrs. Noble Mitchell, vice-president; Mrs. Val Oshel, secretary, and Mrs. Ed Brantley, treasurer. Mrs. Oshel and Mrs. Brantley were unable to attend. Group captains were Mrs. John C. Hayes, Mrs. Bill Franks and Mrs. Ward Woolard. Others attending were: Mrs. Carl Hatfield, and honor roll members teaching other classes, Mrs. Lore Butler, Mrs. R. C. Adams and Mr. Paul McSparrin.

Holiday party dresses for the young are pretty to look at, offer lots of fashion, are slow to wrinkle or muss. This little girl (left) wears striped dress of chromspun with Empire bodice. Collar and cuffs are in solid color. Big and little sister wear dresses alike (right) of chromspun. These are copied after the grown-up shirtwaist dress and have button-on velvet bodices that fit under the little fly-away tab on the shirtwaists.

The crepe afternoon dress is back in favor for fall and winter. This graceful design, by Jo Copeland, is belted, has cowl neckline, soft shoulder line and flowing skirt.—By GAILE DUGAS, NEA Women's Editor.

Attacks Present School System

CHICAGO (AP) — A University of Chicago educator has attacked the present system of education as "an assembly line operation or lock step" and called for a new type of high school to which students "must earn admission."

Francis S. Chase, chairman of the University of Chicago's education department, said the new school would help restore "the vitality that has been removed from learning."

"Excellence itself is an ideal," he said. "Our high schools apply it to football and band performances. Why not to mathematics, literature, and other spheres where reason and imagination find expression?"

Chase told the National Conference on the American High School, which is sponsored by the university in collaboration with the National Citizens Council for Better Schools, that only students "with a capacity for self-motivated effort and sustained study" would be admitted to his proposed school.

Before they could matriculate, however, these students must pass through an intermediate school where they'd stay "until they had the competence to enter the high school," he said.

Chase said his proposed school would be organized separately as a supplement to existing schools in large population centers or as a "school within a school" in smaller communities.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wallace, residents of Harrisburg, are parents of a girl, born in Alton, Tuesday. The baby has been named Karen Renah and weighed four pounds, two ounces at birth. She is now in the premature hospital at East St. Louis. The mother of the child is the former Miss Nina Ruth McDaniel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew McDaniel, 822 Longley street, Harrisburg. Mr. and Mrs. Wallace were attending a singing convention and visiting relatives over the week end, when Mrs. Wallace was taken to the hospital.

MR. AND MRS. S. BAYARD GOODGE shown at their Golden Wedding celebration held at Concord, Tenn., Wednesday, October 23. She is the former Miss Clara Davenport of Harrisburg.

Harrisburg Residents Attend Golden Wedding Celebration in Tennessee

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Davenport, Mr. and Mrs. George Davenport, Mrs. Louie Davenport, Mrs. M. D. Nesler and Mrs. Roy Seright went to Concord, Tenn., Wednesday, Oct. 23, to attend the Golden Wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. S. Bayard Goodge. Mrs. Goodge is the former Miss Clara Davenport of Harrisburg, sister of Mrs. Nesler, R. C. and George Davenport. Their sister, Mrs. Frank (Ann) Phipps of Memphis, Tenn., came to Harrisburg and made the trip with them. It was the first time that all of the family had been united for a long time.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodge were married in Harrisburg 50 years ago on Oct. 23 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Nesler, by the late Rev. H. P. Fudge, a Baptist minister. The young Mr. and Mrs. Goodge went immediately to Evansville, Mr. Goodge's home, and lived there until they took up the work about 25 years ago, that they are now doing.

"Mom" and "Pop" Goodge are administrators, advisers and loved friends of the patients and pupils of the Little Creek Sanitarium and School of Concord, Tenn., six miles from Knoxville. This is a self-help school under the sponsorship of the Seventh Day Adventist church and the many beautiful buildings, including several residential units, were all constructed by the young people, who saved about two thirds of the cost of the residence into which Mr. and Mrs. Goodge recently moved. Another building in which they take justifiable pride is the 25 bed and girls of the school, held a buffet dinner in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Peak, under the supervision of Mr. and Mrs. Peak, who are in charge of the cooking and lunchroom facilities of the organization. The guests are enthusiastic in their praise of this dinner and the warmth of the reception they enjoyed.

There was a little surprise element worked into the party. Each guest had sent "regrets" and so were a constant source of surprise and pleasure to their hosts as they were announced over a public address system. The last to be announced were the daughter of the deceased Kenneth, Mrs. Forrest Coyle, Austin, Tex., granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Goodge, and her son, Floyd, the first great-grandchild, flown in from Texas. This was their first meeting with the little great-grandson.

Although there had been a "please do not send gifts" on each invitation, there were many expressions of love and appreciation from their many friends, several from Harrisburg, sent by those who could not be present. The Harrisburg guests who did attend took a large antique lantern, filled with "gold dollars," made by wrapping silver gift dollars in gold foil.

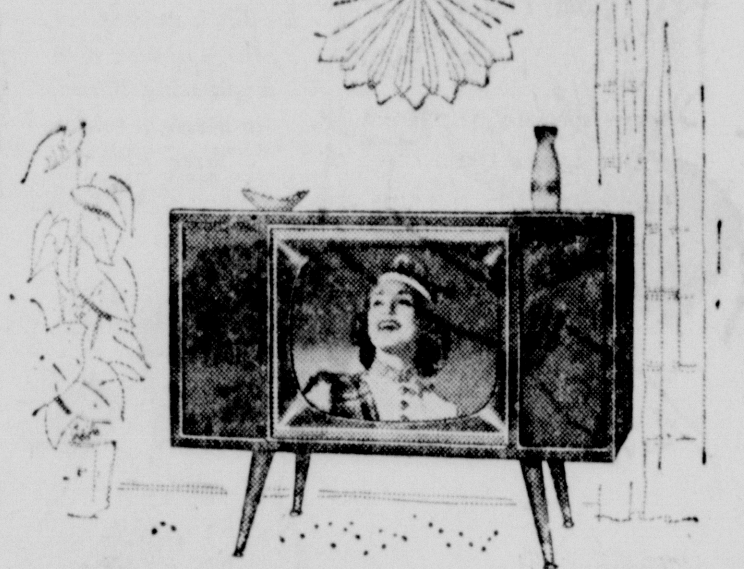

On the return trip Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Davenport, Mrs. Nesler and Mrs. Seright stopped in Madisonville, Ky., to visit Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Barham, recently moved from Harrisburg.

Farmers Must Report Earnings For Social Security

There has been considerable misunderstanding among farmers as to the correct method for reporting their earnings for social security tax purposes, according to E. Bishop Hill, manager of the social security district office in Harrisburg.

Some of this misunderstanding is because there are many cases where the farmer has not made a net income of $600, and therefore believes that no Federal income tax return (Form 1040) is necessary. However, all self-employed persons must file Form 1040, with a profit and loss statement attached, if they net $400 a year. From this, it is plain to see that the self-employed person who makes between $400 and $600 per year must file the return and pay the social security tax even though he is not subject to income tax.

The law goes beyond this in the case of the self-employed farmer. He may exercise an option if he chooses. When the gross income from the farm is $1800 or less he may report, for social security purposes, either two-thirds of his gross or the actual net earnings. When the gross income from the farm exceeds $1800 the net income must be figured; if the net income is less than $1200, the farmer may elect to report $1200 for social security.

If the net earnings from the farm are more than $1200 he must report the actual amount of his net earnings. To find out his net earnings he should list all expenses in connection with the operation of the farm. Expenses such as seed, fertilizer, electricity, fuel and oil for operation of tractors are counted against gross income. He should also show the depreciation on farm buildings,

MORTY MEEKLE

By Dick Cavalli

XXI
Carliotta couldn't contain her curiosity as to how Sarah had been able to identify the dead man, how she knew who he was.

Sarah told the story Tom had instructed her to tell. Someone had introduced her to Dennert somewhere and she had seen him later around the Village and finally in the Melville house. It wasn't the man himself she had recognized, nobody could do that; it was his beaten-up hat.

Carliotta exclaimed at that. "You tried for the biography too." She looked arch. "That's where you people met. Sarah, you wretch, why didn't you tell me?"

Sarah smiled faintly. "I didn't know that you'd be particularly interested."

Steven was hungry, said they'd all feel better with some food, and Tom drove Carliotta down to the store. While they were gone Sarah told Steven about his scribbled note she'd found in her apartment, and asked when he'd been there—and was freshly startled.

He said slowly, "Will you do something for me, Sarah? Will you forget about the note, forget I was in your apartment that day?"

The poison injected into her veins by Tom distorted her vision. If Tom could lie anybody could lie. . . . Steven looked different, strange. . . . What harm was there in Steven's dropping into her apartment? He and Carliotta had a key, one or both of them had done it before. . . . She had only found the note last Friday night, because wind had blown papers to the floor, but it could have been there a long time. . . . She was convinced that the day to which Steven alluded was the day of Grant Melville's death. Tom warning her to keep quiet about things, and now Steven was acting as if something were wrong.

"All right, I'll forget about it." Then at once he was himself again. He patted her shoulder. "Good girl. . . . I'll tell you about it some day. I can't now."

When Carney finished with the stone house that evening he stopped in at the Tasks'. Florrie Brown and Diana Satterlee were both there.

The lieutenant put his question to the room mildly and without explanation. "Would you mind telling us where you people were individually on Oct. 3?"

Remembering back weeks to a particular day was usually difficult; but Sarah observed that Carliotta and Steven, Diana Satterlee and Florrie Brown had no trouble, they knew instantly the day to which the lieutenant referred. She couldn't decide whether Steven would have denied being in New York or not, he didn't get the chance. Intersecting warfare broke out between Florrie and Diana Satterlee. Florrie spoke first. "The third. . . . I can't recall, but you were in New York then, you and Felix, Di."

Di Satterlee gave Florrie a look out of her haggard eyes, and said in a freezing tone, "I remember the day very well indeed. It was the day Grant died—" and then she exploded. Turning to Carney she said furiously, "Ask that little tart what she was doing having cocktails with Grant in the Longchamps at Twelfth Street at around two o'clock that afternoon."

It was Florrie's turn then. She jumped up from the couch spilling her drink. "You old bag. You—" Epithets poured out of her.

The story came out, of course, it had to. Steven, Carliotta, Bob and Florrie Brown had all been in New York that day. After a quarrel with her husband the evening before, Florrie had dashed off in their car at around eight p. m., leaving a note saying she was going to stay with her aunt in New Jersey and Bob could expect her back when he saw her. He went to Carliotta with his tale of woe, and Carliotta, who shared his worry about Florrie and what she might do, had gone after her with Bob Brown. Steven got home an hour or so after she and Bob Brown started. He read the message Carliotta had left for him, waited for a while in the hope they'd return, and when they didn't appear by two a. m. he borrowed Sproul's car and went after them—he didn't want Carliotta mixed up in the Browns' fights.

In New York, where he arrived at around nine on the morning of the third, Steven went to the Morris, the hotel at which he generally stayed when in town, got a room and telephoned around. Steven tried half a dozen people, among them Sarah, trying to find Carliotta, who finally turned up at the hotel at a quarter of six that evening.

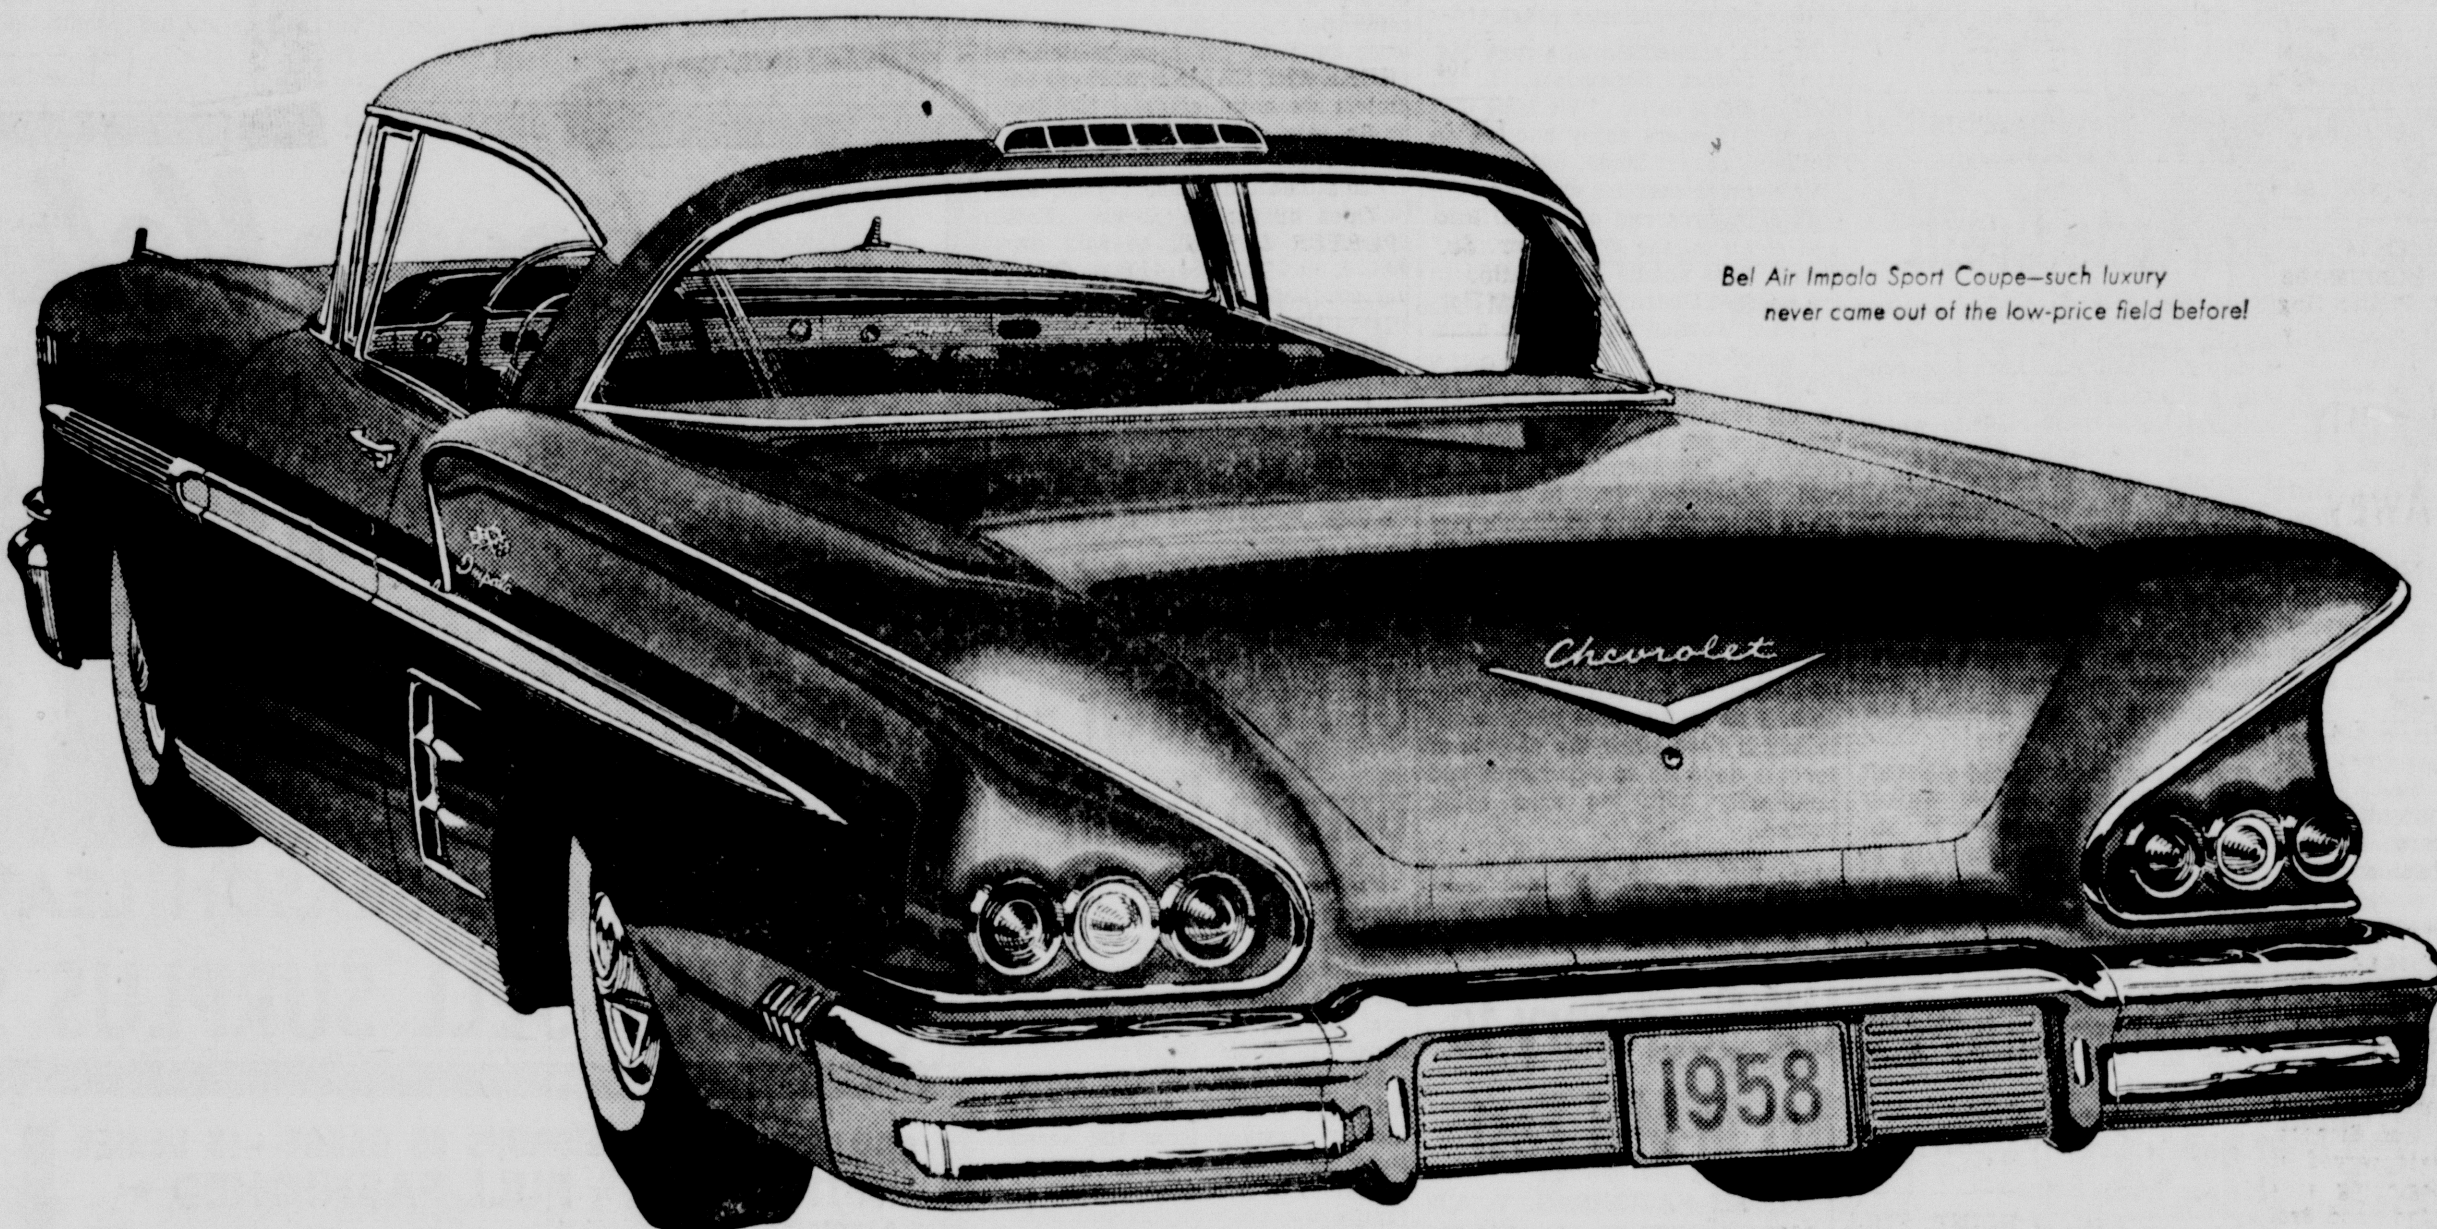

She and Bob Brown had been equally unsuccessful in catching up with Florrie. Bob Brown started for Florrie's aunt in Jersey, sure that she would go there when she ran out of funds. He was still there when Steven got hold of him after 10 that night. Steven had had the bright idea of calling Cornwall and Florrie was home.

Lieutenant Carney had taken everything down in his methodical way. He said, "You left New York at what time that day, the third,

Mrs. Brown?"
"Fivish, maybe nearer six."
"Where were you in the meantime, if you left Mr. Melville at a little after three?"

She had been shopping at Duke and Carmine's. "And Bob never even noticed my new things. . . . Florrie threw out an arm and pointed at Carliotta. "He doesn't care anything about me," she sobbed. "He's in love with her. He is, he is—I know he is."

Prosecution to Ask Prison Term for Girard

Observers Believe Judges Will Approve Suspended Sentence

MAEBASHI, Japan (AP) — The prosecution will demand conviction and a prison term Thursday for S3C William S. Girard in the firing range death of Mrs. Naka Sakai last Jan. 30, court observers said today.

Newspapersmen, both Japanese and foreign, agreed that the prosecutor's office will ask between five and seven years imprisonment for the Ottawa, Illinois, GI when it makes its final summation at the Maebashi District Court Thursday.

Most observers believe the three-judge panel will let the 22-year-old Army truck driver off with a suspended sentence when it hands down its judgment sometime the early part of next month.

All indications are that both Japanese and Americans will be satisfied, though some Americans may feel that Girard deserves to spend some time in a Japanese prison for what he has done.

The time table is as follows: The prosecution will deliver its summation Thursday. The defense will give its final arguments on Nov. 5. The court, presided over by Chief Judge Yuzo Kawachi, will deliver its judgment before Nov. 15.

Conviction Felt Certain
The prosecution has charged Girard with "causing bodily injury leading to death," a charge on which conviction could result in a sentence of 2 to 15 years.

The prosecutor's office could demand the maximum penalty if it thought Girard shot Mrs. Sakai with the deliberate intention of killing her—something which the prosecution has not claimed—or could recommend his outright release if it came to the conclusion he was innocent.

Japanese newsmen covering the trial, most of them veteran court reporters, say Japanese public opinion will be satisfied that justice has been done if the court convicts Girard for the slaying, even if he serves no prison sentence.

Importation

The starling is not a native of the United States, but comes from the Old World. In 1890, about 60 common starlings were set free in Central Park, New York City, and they have since spread as far south as Florida and Texas and as far west as Utah.

Rep. Gordon No Candidate; Son Will Seek Post

CHICAGO (AP) — Rep. Thomas S. Gordon (D-Ill.) announced Monday he would not seek re-election to Congress in 1958. He indicated he would like his son to succeed him.

His son, Thomas Jr., immediately announced he is a candidate to succeed his father. The younger Gordon is on the legal staff of the Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago.

Gordon's decision to retire, which was announced here, would throw open the House Foreign Affairs Committee chairmanship. Under seniority rights, and if the Democrats retain control of the House, Rep. Thomas E. Morgan (D-Pa.) would be next in line for the chairmanship.

Gordon, 63, is serving his eighth term in Congress as the representative of Illinois' 8th Congressional District, Chicago.

Seek Bodies In Plane Crash

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP) — Air Force and civilian rescue teams today resumed the task of searching for bodies in the wreckage of a giant KC-97 tanker plane which was believed to be carrying 16 crewmen when it crashed into a mountain. The crash occurred in desolate country 40 miles north of here.

Eight bodies were spotted Tuesday by an advance rescue team which reached the scene several hours after the crash. It was feared that no one survived the crash.

The plane, from the 509 Aircraft and Engine Squadron at Walker Air Force Base, Roswell, N. M., slammed into Gray Mountain at the 1,500 foot level. The plane, used to refuel jet aircraft at high altitudes, left Roswell early Tuesday on a "routine training flight." Air Force officials disclosed that the plane reported no trouble prior to the crash Tuesday about 10 a. m.

Fined in County Court; Harco Man Faces Charges After Crash

Horace R. Paden, arrested on Route 45 near Eldorado and charged with driving while intoxicated and illegal transportation upon complaint of State Policeman Everett Estes, today was fined $100 on each count when he pleaded guilty before County Judge Traf-ton Dennis. "The judgment stated that on failure to pay the fine, Paden must serve out the $200 and costs in the county jail at $1.50 per day."

George R. Rude of Harco yesterday was charged with driving while his license was under revocation and with reckless driving in an information filed in county court. The charges, filed upon complaint of State Policeman Carl Perdel, resulted from a crash involving Rude's car near Galatia Oct. 20.

Ninth Division To Reorganize

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 9th Infantry Division will reorganize itself along "pentomic" lines December 1, the Army announced. The 9th is the last of 15 divisions to begin conversion to atomic warfare organization. The pentomic divisions (pentomic being a combination of atomic and pen, meaning five) are organized into five battle groups, instead of the three infantry regiments formerly making up the divisions.

Shawnee Forest Will Be Host to Deer Hunters

The Shawnee National Forest will be host to thousands of deer hunters who will take to the field in quest of their quarry during the three day shotgun season November 1-3. Of the eleven southern counties open to deer hunting, parts of nine lie within the boundaries of the Shawnee National Forest.

Approximately 200,000 acres of unappropriated area of National Forest land will be open to the nimrod subject, of course, to hunting regulations and laws of the State of Illinois. For the hunter who prefers to rough it, many likely undeveloped campsites are available together with a limited number in developed recreational areas.

In this connection Shawnee National Forest Supervisor, L. P. Neff had this to say, "We hope that the deer hunters enjoy hunting on National Forest lands, but want to urge them to exercise extreme care with campfires and warming fires, and clean up the area after use." Forest fires should be reported to the nearest District Ranger or Forest Fire Warden through the nearest telephone.

The best source of information on the location of National Forest lands are the District Rangers located at Elizabethtown, Vienna, and Jonesboro, Ill. In addition some countries have available plat books showing land ownership. Also residents within the boundaries of the Forest have a good knowledge of where National Forest lands are located. Forest Service personnel do not offer recommendations as to the most likely place to bag a deer since the chance of success depends on experience and familiarity with the area being hunted.

7 Powers Ask UN Secretary to Act in Mid East

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Seven Western powers, with the backing of the United States, today formally asked United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold to step into the Turco-Syrian crisis and to go to the Middle East personally, if necessary.

Japan introduced a measure asking action by Hammarskjold after Syria formally proposed appointment of a seven-nation fact-finding commission to report to the General Assembly and the Security Council within two weeks.

The two resolutions injected new impetus to the Middle East debate in the 82-nation General Assembly. The seven-power resolution, sponsored by Japan, Norway, Canada, Spain, Peru, Paraguay and Ghana, would have the assembly express "confidence that the secretary-general will be available" to discuss the situation with Syria and Turkey in consultation "with such other representatives as may be useful and that he can proceed, if necessary, to the countries concerned."

Woman Is Killed Near Murphysboro

MURPHYSBORO, Ill. (AP) — A Princeton, Iowa, woman was killed Tuesday near here when the car she was driving went out of control and overturned on top of her after she was thrown from it.

State police identified the victim as Mrs. Irene Phillee, 59. Her husband, Ira, 64, suffered a scalp injury but was not hospitalized.

The accident occurred about 11 miles west of Murphysboro on Ill. 3 as the couple was returning from a vacation, police said.

Johns, Duncan Win Awards at Dodge-Plymouth Dist. Meeting

Tom Johns, automobile salesman at the B. W. Rude Motor Co. in this city, was for the third time winner of first place in the "Quiz Down" contest for Dodge and Plymouth salesman in the St. Louis district.

He was awarded a GE radio for placing first in the Dodge contest and a Stetson hat in the Plymouth contest. Ernest Duncan, also from Rude's, also won a Stetson hat.

They received their awards at a Dodge-Plymouth salesman district meeting held at Emerson hotel, Mt. Vernon, last night, to better acquaint them with improvements on the 1958 Dodge and Plymouth models.

Dies in Hardin County

Cecil Watson, 81, died in the Hardin county general hospital at noon Tuesday. Mr. Watson was a resident of Rosiclare and the body will lie in state at the Hosick funeral home in Rosiclare until the funeral at 2 p. m. Thursday. Funeral services will be held in Tyners chapel near Salem, Ky., and burial will be in the church cemetery.

back, it's really tragic, because it doesn't have to be that way.

"The job you are starting will be rough and there will be many problems. You must realize that unless the area as a whole can prosper, no one town can prosper. You must make the area competitively attractive over other areas to attract industry and besides taking a lot of hard work and perseverance, it's going to take cash."

"Southern Illinois University and the state and federal government can only help you. You, the people, must do the job."

"Tonight could be the beginning of a new era in the life of Saline and Gallatin counties."

Counties Going Down
Mr. List showed slides pertaining to the Saline-Gallatin situation and said that 100 new factory workers in a community would mean 51 more school children, 296 more people, $590,000 more personal income per year, $270,000 more in bank deposits, 107 more passenger automobiles, 174 more workers employed above the original 100, four more retail stores and $360,000 more in retail sales per year.

He pointed out that Saline and Gallatin are going down. Total population in 1940, he said, was 49,414, and in 1954 41,900, declaring the population now is probably less than 40,000.

Things in favor of this area, he said, are: Desirable location, free from congestion; mild weather; adequate labor supply; adequate utilities; good transportation including the Ohio river; technical services available from SIU.

Parents and 6 Of 7 Children Burn to Death

PICKFORD, Mich. (AP) — Eight persons—a father, mother and six of their seven children—burned to death early today when fire, apparently caused by a defective coal heater, swept through their house.

The only survivor was 11-year-old Rose Carrick. She saved her life by jumping from the second story porch of the frame home in an effort to summon help for her family.

The victims were Vern Carrick, 45, a part-time woods-worker; his wife, Irene, 30; and their children: Dennis, 9; Harold, 7; Norma, 5; Joy, 3; Daniel, 18 months; and James, 2 months old.

Police and firemen from Pickford and Cedarville waited for the ruins of the house to cool before recovering the bodies and making a thorough investigation.

The Carricks' house was located six miles south of here in Michigan's Upper Peninsula.

State trooper Ralph Severance said the house was "literally leveled." He said there was almost nothing left of the house but a bed of glowing coals.

Rose said she awoke in the pre-dawn hours and heard her sister, Norma, screaming. "I tried to find her," Rose said, "but I couldn't because of the darkness."

Rose said her mother and father began breaking windows and she climbed from one to a back porch where she jumped to the ground.

She ran next door to the house of her uncle, Arthur Carrick. The uncle said that by the time he called firemen and ran outside to help the bottom of the house was a mass of flames.

Expect Deficit In IPAC Funds

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — The executive secretary of the Illinois Public Aid Commission said Tuesday the state's public assistance programs are headed for a 36 million dollar deficit in the current two year budget period.

But Executive Secretary Peter W. Cahill told the State Budgetary Commission the IPAC intended to "take a pretty cold blooded attitude" in its policies in order to reduce the threatened deficit.

Cahill made a quarterly report on the public aid program to the first meeting of the newly-enlarged Budgetary Commission headed by Sen. Everett R. Peters (R-St. Joseph).

The 1957 Legislature appropriated 317 million dollars for the various public aid programs for the two year period ending June 30, 1959.

But Cahill said that if monthly public aid expenditures continue at the present pace, the program —The President said all civilized people deplored Tuesday's bombing attack on Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion and four of his ministers in the Israeli parliament. He expressed gratitude that the bombing produced no fatalities.

The President's announced plan to go to Paris followed a NATO announcement that the heads of all 15 member governments will attend the December council meeting. Eisenhower said the invitation was instigated by Paul-Henri Spaak, the NATO secretary general who put the idea up to the President and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan here last week.

The President said that, assuming that other heads of the NATO nations accept the council invitation, he also intends to accept.

U. S. Seeks Damages

From Bulgaria

THE HAGUE, Holland (AP) — The International Court of Justice said today the United States has asked proceedings against Communist Bulgaria in connection with the shooting down of an Israeli airliner over Bulgaria in July 1955. The application claimed damages for American passengers killed when the El-Al Airlines constellation was shot down by Bulgarian fighter planes, killing 51 passengers and seven crewmembers.

New Chevrolets On Display at Townes Chevrolet Company Thursday

The new 1958 Chevrolets will go on display Thursday at the Townes Chevrolet company in Harrisburg, local dealer.

The 1958 Chevrolet is new from bumper-to-bumper and from frame to roof line. The all-new features include:

A completely restyled car which is longer, lower and wider;
An x-shaped frame which allows a lower silhouette but retains ample head room and increases leg room and luggage space;

Two suspension systems. Sturdy coil springs, front and rear, are standard. A new "Level Air" system which automatically adjusts to all load weights is optional;

A 348-cubic inch engine which is new from fan to flywheel.

Dual headlamps, a grille with fine grid concave ribs and a low, flat hood unbroken by ornamentation, distinguish the front view. The rearward treatment also is unique. Rear fender lines sweep outward from the body, then curl around the taillight ensemble to form a shape which stylists likened to a graceful gull-wing in flight.

The new Turbo-Thrust engine is still another highspot that illustrates the engineering job behind the 1958 Chevrolets.

The new engine is one of five V8's and a six-cylinder carried in the new line. Ramjet fuel injection which Chevrolet introduced last year, is again offered as an option on the 283-cubic inch V8. Automatic Turboglide, Powerglide, an improved three-speed Synchromesh and the overdrive are again available.

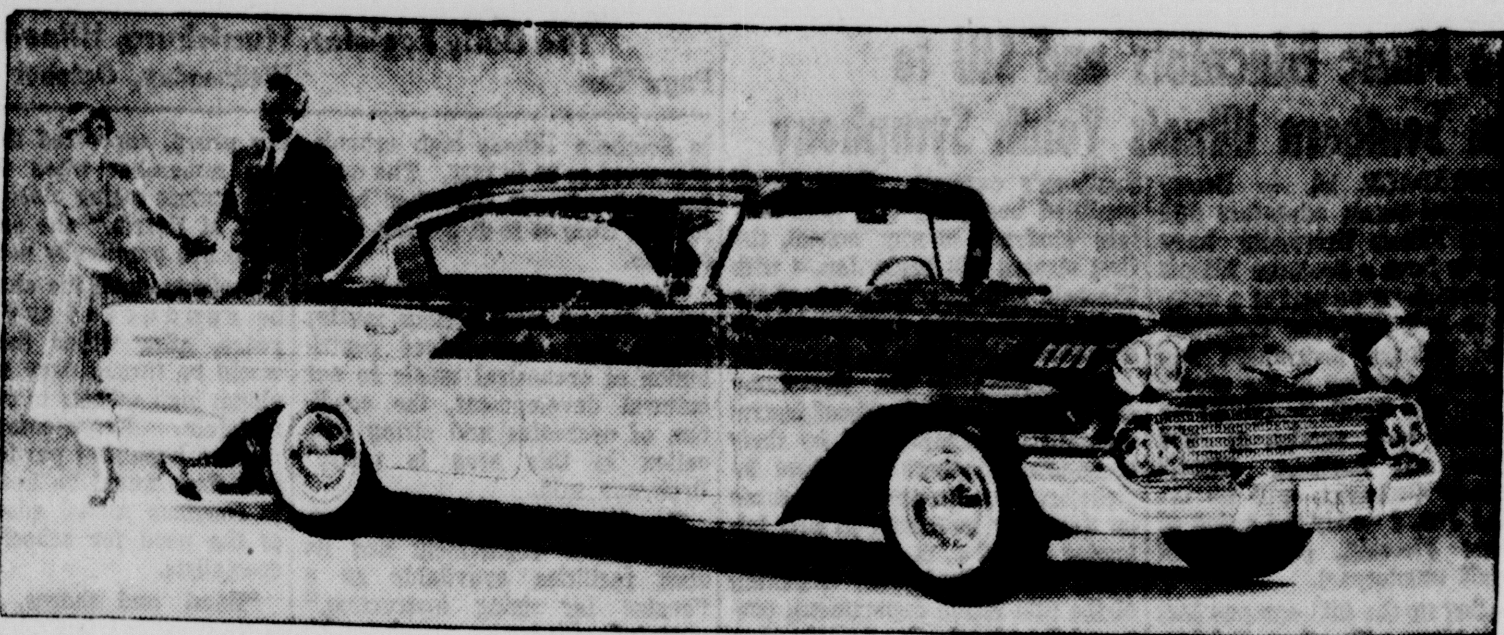

The Bel Air series is continued, but adds among its six models a sport coupe and convertible under the Impala nameplate, introduced on a "dream car" at the General Motors Motorama in 1956.

In the middle range of the low-priced car bracket is a Biscayne series, with two sedans. The bottom end of the price spread will be occupied by three models making up the Delray series. In 1957 comparable series were known as the Two-Ten and One-fifty, respectively.

In recognition of the growing popularity of station wagons, an exclusive five-unit series of this body type has been established.

Delta Similarity

Cairo, Illinois, was so named because its first settlers, who arrived in 1818, thought its delta site was like that of Cairo, Egypt.

CHEVROLET STYLISTS have taken full advantage of nine inches in added length to mold low, fleet beauty into their 1958 models, as shown by this view of the Bel Air sport sedan. Strong eye-appeal is found in the modish grille, the dual headlamps and low, flat hood. A new engine, new frame and two new suspension systems are only a few of the major chassis advances. Station Wagon, Bel Air, Biscayne and Delray Series are offered. The new Chevrolet will be on display Thursday at Townes Chevrolet Co., Harrisburg dealer.

Egyptian Health Don't News

TULAREMIA
Many Illinois hunters will take to the fields and woods in November in search of the cottontail rabbit. The hunting season offers health recreation for many persons. Yet, it all too frequently is accompanied by an increase in the prevalence of tularemia, a disease of wild rodents, particularly rabbits, which is transmissible to man.

Most cases of tularemia occurring in Illinois have been traced to the common cottontail rabbit. Other mammals, birds, ticks and blood-sucking insects were probably the source of infection for most of the other cases.

Although tularemia is not widespread in our state, the disease is by no means insignificant. Since 1926, when tularemia was first recognized in Illinois, the state has recorded more than 3,000 cases, 45 of which were reported last year.

Due to a bacterium, tularemia is usually transmitted to man by contact of the bare hands with the flesh or blood of infected rabbits or by eating infected rabbit meat that has not been thoroughly cooked. Ordinarily, infection from handling a diseased rabbit develops at the site of a scratch or puncture of the skin. There is, however, considerable evidence that the causative organism may be able to penetrate the unbroken skin.

Tularemia is characterized by sudden onset, accompanied by chills, fever and general prostration. The illness commonly lasts about three weeks, followed by a slow convalescence.

Fortunately, tularemia is easily prevented. The measures of personal protection are at the command of everyone.

First of all, sportsmen should avoid shooting slow-moving rabbits. Inactive rabbits may have tularemia.

Second, everyone should avoid the bites of blood-sucking ticks and flies. Such insects should never be squashed between the fingers as the tularemia germ may be in the feces. The disinfection of all bites should be practiced, though this is no guarantee against tularemia.

It is advisable to wear rubber gloves dressing wild game, particularly rabbits. Any carcass found to have white spots on the liver or spleen should be burned. These spots are an indication that the

Women's Control of Nation's Wealth Fails to Show Up in Savings Accounts

By VIVIAN SANDE
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (U.P.)—Ladies, your much-reported control of the nation's wealth does not show in savings accounts, according to a number of people—including women—in the banking industry.

"Although at least half of the savings accounts in this country animal may be infected with tularemia.

Thorough cooking of the meat of all game is also important in the prevention of tularemia. Freezing of meat, even for long periods of time, has not been found effective in destroying the causative organism.

"As of this date no cases have been reported in either Gallatin, Saline or White counties," Dr. James H. Wells, director of the Egyptian Health Department, stated.

and the East River Savings Bank, all of New York.

As more and more women have joined the labor force and stayed in it after marriage, more and more women open savings accounts in their own names.

Save To Spend

More and more people are saving with the idea of spending. Once they have accumulated the amount of money they want, they draw it out and start saving all over again.

Miss Hilda Hoffman of the Bowery Savings Bank estimates one quarter of her bank's total accounts usually are in turnover. Women make less use of bank services.

Miss Campbell of the East River Savings Bank said women depositors in her bank buy fewer money orders and travelers checks, and are less apt to take advantage of "banking by mail," or "direct dividend deposit services," than men.

Women tend to make more use of special purpose plans like Christmas and vacation clubs which bring them no interest on their money.

There also is a growing tendency for married couples to open joint accounts.

The Union Dime Savings Bank reports many young people now open joint accounts while they are still engaged. The East River Savings Bank reports more and more men and women jointly save in the bank's new college club set up by this bank to help young parents provide for their children's educations.

58 FORD
COMING
NOV. 7

Nothing newer

AROUND THE WORLD

The 58 Ford has been proved around the world. This is the most dramatic and most grueling test ever given a new car before its public announcement.

The whole world was used as a test track for the 58 Ford. The car drove through England, France, Switzerland, Italy, Yugoslavia, Greece, Turkey, Iran, Afghanistan, Pakistan, India, Malaya, Thailand, Cambodia, Vietnam, and finally back to the place it started—Detroit, Michigan, U.S.A.

The Ford powered over the great mountain ranges of three continents: from the Alps to the Himalayas and the Rockies. It crossed the great rivers of history: the Thames, the Seine, the Tiber, the Arno, the Tigris, the Euphrates, the Indus, the Ganges.

This car stood at Buckingham Palace, rolled up the Champs Elysees to the Arc de Triomphe, and paused at the Eiffel Tower. It was greeted by the great Paris courtiers at the famous fashion salons where its "sculptured in steel" styling was applauded by the most style-conscious audience in the world.

The 58 Ford rode smoothly down the rugged, beautiful seacoast of Tito's country, to a festival in Dubrovnik, and into Greece to Athens, where this newest classic met such ancient classics as the Parthenon and the Temple of Poseidon.

Into Turkey; and the 58 Ford passed the great white lacework palaces of the Sultans along the Bosphorus and the Golden Horn. Then the Ford went where few but nomads travel, up into the hot days and chill nights of the ancient mountains of Afghanistan. And thence along the route Alexander the Great followed with his chariots to cross the historic Indus river.

On and on the Ford moved, down into the heat of mysterious India, through New Delhi to the Taj Mahal, and to the great pink palace of the Maharajah of Jaipur.

This great new car met the challenge of the monsoons—rains that for centuries have stopped all road movement throughout Indo-China, but didn't stop the 58 Ford. It drove on to Penang in Malaya, and then north to Bangkok.

Further on came Saigon, the Paris of the Orient, at the farthest tip of Southeast Asia. Finally, it powered across the great Rockies and plains of North America and back, at long last, to Detroit, Michigan.

The 58 Ford . . . has been proved and approved around the world. A natural question arises. Why did Ford go to such great lengths with its 1958 model? Why spend so much money and time and go through all the problems of negotiations, customs, border transit, diplomacy in so many countries?

The answer: in the competitive automobile market of today, only the best in all-around value can survive. And this round-the-world test is the most decisive possible demonstration of the best.

The 1958 Ford is value: hard-dollar value. It is also style, power, performance, and a dozen great new features. But above all, it is value.

This is the car you've been waiting for. See it November 7—there's nothing newer in the world than the 58 Ford!

Area Music Educators and SIU to Form Southern Illinois Youth Symphony

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Downstate school music educators and Southern Illinois University have agreed to form a Southern Illinois Youth Symphony as part of a campaign to halt a 20-year deterioration of stringed instrument and orchestral education in the area's schools. The Youth Symphony—a high-school level version of the nine-year old Southern Illinois Symphony Orchestra—will be organized Jan. 4 under the baton of Carmine Ficoelli, conductor of its adult counterpart.

Meeting on the SIU campus last Friday along with other divisional members of the Illinois Education Association, the teachers also voted unanimously to cooperate with SIU in forming a "stringed instrument instruction center" on Southern's campus. Open to all qualified beginning and intermediate students of any school, the first classes will begin Jan. 4 with Ficoelli and John Wharton, of the University's music department, as instructors.

Membership in the Symphony will be open to high school instrumentalists recommended by their home-town teachers or school instructors. The group will rehearse on Saturday mornings at SIU following the 8-9 a. m. string classes.

Dr. Henry Bruinsma, chairman of the SIU music department, proposed the plan in the group's open meeting, citing an "alarming decline in orchestra and stringed instrument participation and interest." He said that there are now only three functioning orchestras in Southern Illinois high schools, compared to 32 in 1938. The number of bands, on the other hand, jumped from 55 to 91 percent in all schools.

"Despite increasing public appreciation of more serious music; despite the acknowledged contribution of orchestral music to our cultural development, the condition of orchestra and string education in this area is puny," Bruinsma said.

He offered to make the University's music department and its staff facilities available as a "center for string instruction," operated as an area service with the cooperation of SIU's Division of Area Services and the high schools of Southern Illinois.

Miss Belle Longbons of West Frankfort, chairman of the teachers group, supported the plan. "I can remember when there were 150 students taking class violin lessons at Herrin," she said. "Now there are practically none."

Bruinsma said the classes would be conducted by SIU for two years, after which the program would be turned over to the individual high schools to develop and maintain. Representatives expressed hope that participation by that time would be heavy enough to convince school administrators of the need for school orchestra specialists.

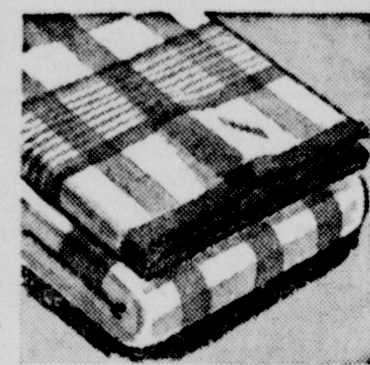

"Band and chorus, band and chorus, that's all you can get across to them anymore," said one delegate. "But without the orchestra students, it's hard to convince a principal that you need an orchestra teacher."

Dallas Ward of Colorado Named Coach of Week

BOULDER, Colo. — He told his players that "you fellows have gotten yourself into this thing — now go out there and get yourselves out of it."

Three hours later, after those same players had come within one point of tying the nation's No. 1 team, he said that "we're disappointed as hell."

He learned his single wing from an acknowledged master but he spiced it with enough split-T and winged-T variations to come within a breath of the college football upset of the year.

Nearly Upset Sooners

He's Dallas Ward of Colorado, the United Press Coach of the Week after his Colorado Buffaloes almost buffaloed mighty Oklahoma before dropping a 14-13 heart-breaker.

The 31-year-old Ward, now in his 10th season as head coach at Colorado, has produced winners annually since 1950 but confessed Oklahoma is his big target each year.

In 1952, the 21-21 tie between the two teams marked the first time since 1956 that Oklahoma had failed to win a Big Eight game. In 1956, Colorado led the Sooners, 19-6, at halftime only to have Oklahoma pull out a 27-19 squeaker. Native of Oregon.

Ward, a Lexington, Ore., native who was captain of Oregon State teams in football, baseball and basketball, made his coaching debut in 1928 at a Minneapolis high school. From 1936 through 1947, with time out for Navy service, he was an assistant at Minnesota under single-wing disciple Bernie Bierman. He moved to Colorado in 1948 and put his offensive genius to work.

He's a quiet, likeable fellow, a natural optimist who divides his infrequent free moments between his five children and a sharp golf game.

"We play Oklahoma to win—not to come close," Ward said glumly. "We don't go into any game just hoping to keep the score respectable. You can't knock Oklahoma any way you look at it. But if Oklahoma is the best team in the country, Colorado is second best."

Picking the Grid Winners IN THE Sports Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

TOKYO —Fraily's Follies and the weekend football "winners"—while saying "sayonara" to Japan and some of the things which will be missed.

Game of the Week

Notre Dame over Navy — This rates as one of these showcase games and therefore gets the national attention. The Fighting Irish spirit which conquered Army should give the South Benders a service sweep.

The East

Army over Colgate — I'll miss those mama-sans.

Princeton over Brown —They're wrinkled and 70-plus.

Columbia over Cornell — But wise, wonderful and serene.

Yale over Dartmouth—Probably because they don't have to read this kind of stuff.

Also: Penn over Harvard, Boston University over George Washington, Penn State over West Virginia and Pitt over Syracuse.

The South

Georgia over Alabama — Miss those pre-dinner hot towels, too.

Auburn over Florida — Every country should use 'em.

Duke over Georgia Tech—They refresh the weary diner.

LSU over Vanderbilt — Whether he plans to eat, or not.

Also: South Carolina over Maryland, Mississippi State over Tulane, Mississippi over Houston, North Carolina over Tennessee, Miami over Villanova, North Carolina State over Wake Forest, W&M over Citadel, Kentucky over Memphis State and Virginia over VMI.

The Southwest

Texas Aggies over Arkansas — You never saw such cherub-faced babies.

Rice over Clemson — Cuter than koala bears.

TCU over Baylor — Only they don't wear fur coats.

Texas over SMU — But, then, neither do the mama-sans.

Also: Texas Tech over Oklahoma State, Texas Western over Hardin-Simmons and Arizona over West Texas State.

The Midwest

Iowa over Michigan — Hate to miss this World Series.

Michigan State over Wisconsin—But they've got enough baseball fans.

Minnesota over Indiana — And not enough tickets to go around.

Ohio State over Northwestern—Which is just exactly like at home.

Also: Purdue over Illinois, Oklahoma over Kansas State, Nebraska over Kansas, Iowa State over Drake, Cincinnati over Detroit, Missouri over Colorado and Dayton over Wichita.

The West

UCLA over California — To all my friends.

Stanford over Oregon — Thanks for the memories.

Oregon State over Washington State—So again, sayonara.

Southern California over Washington—And I sure do arrigato!

FOOTBALL WEATHER—Heat only heats up the Los Angeles football fan. No fewer than 77,314 made themselves as comfortable as possible in 87-degree temperature and rooted the Rams to a 35-17 victory over the Detroit Lions. Home team snapped three-game losing streak.

Looking at Sports

BY BILL MELTON

It now looks as though Lester Fequay, Eldorado's high-scoring halfback, will have to settle for runner-up scoring honors in southern Illinois for the second consecutive year.

After leading the 1957 race for three or four weeks and appearing to have the scoring title "in the bag," Fequay suddenly was being pushed by Larry Hiller of Zeigler and this past weekend saw Hiller go to the front.

Hiller had an almost unbelievable night Oct. 18, scoring a record-breaking 61 points at the expense of Elkhart. This moved Hiller into second place.

And last Friday, with Fequay idle, Hiller came back to count 43 points against Pinckneyville. This spurge gave the Zeigler runner a total of 183 points, a spread of 31 over second place Fequay.

Against Pinckneyville Hiller carried for seven TDs and six extra points. He is credited with gaining 315 yards in 21 carries, an average of 15 yards per try.

In a pre-season football story, Zeigler Coach Fred Imhoff is quoted as saying "much of the Zeigler ground attack will be built around veteran senior fullback Larry Hiller, 5-7, 190 pounds, one of the best in southern Illinois."

As of now Hiller has two games to play, facing Marion Nov. 5 and Johnston City Nov. 8.

Eldorado has three games remaining on its schedule—Benton Nov. 1, Metropolis Nov. 8, and Cairo Nov. 11. The Cairo game was re-scheduled from Oct. 25 when illness hit both Eldorado and Cairo schools and the game was moved up by mutual consent.

In 1956 Fequay scored 125 points in nine games and finished second to Herrin's Jim Gualdoni, who scored 133 points in a ten-game schedule.

The flu-bug put a big bite on West Frankfort's Red Birds last week and only one regular was available for his usual starting duty against Herrin a South Seven game. Bruce Link, quarterback, was at his regular post when the game started. Two starting guards—Don Rightmeyer and Bill Wilson—were converted into backfield performers. Only 15 Red Birds were suited up for the game. Herrin won 54-20.

In other South Seven games last weekend Glen Fleming and Pete Bousin paced Mt. Vernon to a 20-0 win over Benton and Centralia scored a 39-12 victory over Marion. Lowell Stonecipher and Rod Linder each scored twice for the winners and Mickey Steptoe and Dave Bauer each had a TD.

Shotton and Marshall scored for Marion.

Harrisburg was the only South Seven school playing outside the loop and took a 7-0 decision from Carbondale to make homecoming complete. The Harrisburg TD was scored by fullback Eddie Price and Ron Maynard converted the PAT.

It takes about 45 gallons of water to fill completely an average-size bathtub.

REEL BEAUTY—Equipped with two rods, Marilyn Davies is after big ones in tropical sun off Havana, where fishing is good the year round.

THE LIGHTS WENT OUT FAST—Peter Mueller is carried from the ring by his opponent, Hans Guenther Wohlers, and handlers after being knocked out in the first round in Hamburg. The quick finish might signify the end of the former German middleweight champion's career as a prize fighter.

Rookies Help Pace Action In Pro Games

By United Press

National Football League rookies are as busy as ants at a picnic this season.

In past years, first-year players felt lucky if they could stick on a pro squad and see a few minutes action when a game was won or lost. The rookies have changed the script in 1957.

Of the 145 touchdowns scored so far this season, rookies have been involved in 35 or nearly one-fourth of the total. Rookies have scored 19 touchdowns on runs or plunges, caught 13 touchdowns passes, scored two on interceptions and patted for another.

Cothren Toes Well

In addition, Paige Cothren, the former Mississippi star, is making like Lou Groze with his foot. Cothren has kicked five field goals and 12 extra points for the Los Angeles Rams to lead the first-year players in scoring with 27 points.

Willie Galimore of the Chicago Bears, a former Florida A & M player who didn't show on the 1956 All-Americans, leads the rookies in touchdowns with six.

R. C. Owens of the San Francisco Forty-Niners, a College of Idaho lad you won't find on any 1956 All-America teams, is second to Galimore among the rookie touchdown-makers with four on pass receptions.

Paul Hornung of the Green Bay Packers, Jim Brown of the Cleveland Browns and Jim Podoley of the Washington Redskins are next among the rookies with three touchdowns apiece. Washington has three rookies in its starting offensive backfield and they have contributed eight touchdowns.

In Sunday's other games, the Forty-Niners are 3-1-2 point choices to beat the Detroit Lions at San Francisco; the Rams are favored over the Bears by three at Los Angeles; the Giants are favored over the Packers by six at Green Bay; the Colts are favored over the Pittsburgh Steelers by 7-1-2 at Baltimore, and the Cardinals are favored over the Philadelphia Eagles by seven at Chicago.

Film on Expert Marksmanship Shown at Kiwanis

A colored motion picture film on expert marksmanship, showing the magnificent rifle and shotgun shooting of Herb Parsons, called the world's greatest marksman, was shown at the regular weekly meeting of the Kiwanis club Tuesday evening at the Masonic temple.

Ed Brantley was in charge of the program and was assisted in showing the film by Ronnie Doerge.

Bob Rushing, vice president, was in charge of the meeting in the absence of Richard Davenport, club president, who was attending a Bankers' meeting in Champaign.

Rupert Bing and Bill Beasley were guests of the meeting and Jon Frohock and Eddie Quade were present from the HTHS Key club. Quade is Key club divisional Lieutenant governor.

There will be a board of directors meeting of the Kiwanis club at Schrieler's cafe this evening at 6 o'clock, Rushing announced.
